VILLA'S ACTIVITY IS BEING WATCHED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 13.—Villa's activity in northern Mexico is being closely watched by the United States. It is expected here that a strong effort to get control of border points will be made by the bandit leader before Ambassador Fletcher can present credentials to First Chief Carranza. Because of this General Panston has taken elaborate precautions to safeguard American territory and it openly is asserted that another Columbus raid cannot be attempted.

Meanwhile officials, while publicly ridiculing the Carranza suggestion that Mexico cut off exports to Europe, fear that trouble may come from it. A sharp protest at least would be made by the Entente Powers. It might involve the United States inasmuch as it is well known here that England has let it be known that she considers most of these oil fields her own property and will see that they are operated at any cost. It is expected that as soon as Ambassador Fletcher reaches Mexico City he will take up with General Carranza all of the questions growing out of interference with foreign interests by the de facto government and will press for an immediate change in policy. Carranza also is to be impressed with the belief of the United States that the suppression of Villa and the restoration of order in the northern Mexican states is to be a first requisite by the United States for continued recognition of the Carranza administration as the real government of Mexico.

STOCKS IN BRISK DEMAND AT OPENING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 13.—There was a brisk demand for stocks in the early trading on the exchange today with nearly all the important issues making gains ranging from one to over two points. The shipping stocks were the most prominent, Marine Common advancing 1 1/2 to 24 and the preferred 2 1/2 to 24 1/2. Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies rose 2 1/2 points to 94 1/2. There was urgent bidding for Steel Common, which rose 3/4 to 106 3/4. Central Leather rose 1 1/2 to 84 1/2 and Crude Steel 3/4 to 66. National Enameling was unusually active and rose 1 1/2 to 32 1/2. Texas Company rose to 218. The copper shares were traded in at a higher range, Utah advancing a point to 106 3/4. Anaconda 1/4 to 75. American Smelting 1/4 to 27 1/2. Small fractions were also made in other issues. In this group, The railway stocks showed a steady tone, Union Pacific rose 1/2 to 126 1/2. St. Paul was up 3/4 at 81 and Erie 1/4 at 24 1/2. Canadian Pacific advanced 1/2 to 152 1/2. Pittsburgh Coal rose to 16 1/2, against 44 1/2 at the close yesterday and People's Gas rose to 89.

PEARY PREDICTS AIR ATTACK ON NEW YORK

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 13.—The Atlantic coast and particularly New York City, is in danger of an enemy attack from the air within thirty days, Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary told visitors to the Pan-American Aero-nautic Exposition.

"This country had a shock when the Deutschland came and when the U-53 sank several ships off Nantucket," he said. "We may have a thousandfold greater shock within thirty days from the air with ourselves as victims."

Admiral Peary urged the training of 2,500 aviators within six months and of 5,000 within a year as a part of a program to combat the menace.

Berlin Gets Excited.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Amsterdam, Feb. 13.—Word that two American ships have sailed for Bordeaux has created a sensation in Berlin, according to reports reaching here today. The Vossische Zeitung is quoted as saying the United States "must write the consequences on its own account."

Firemen Overcome by Cold.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 13.—Fighting a stubborn early morning fire at the Morris Building today, fifteen firemen were overcome by smoke and the intense cold. The flames spread and put the battery room of the Mexican Telegraph Company out of commission. Damage will amount to $10,000.

Almost Run Down.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 13.—The steamer Margarcia, which arrived today from Havana, reported that on the night of January 10, a large vessel running without lights, almost ran down the Margarcia off Cape Hatteras.

BROWN IS SHOT; BARBER MISSING

Tongore Italian in Hospital With Two Bullet Wounds—Shot Monday Night by an Unknown Assassin.

Considerable excitement was created in Tongore at 10:20 o'clock Monday night when James Brown, an Italian, was shot by a man believed to be a fellow countryman while driving through the village. Brown had just driven Captain Papan, the surgeon attached to the Albany battalion, to Brown's Station and was returning home when fired upon. Captain Papan was called to attend his erstwhile driver and directed that he be sent to Kingston. Brown arrived at the Kingston City Hospital at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Assistant District Attorney J. Deputy Hushbrack took a statement of the shooting from the injured man.

One bullet was found, having passed between two ribs on the left side a few inches below the heart. Dr. Stern took Brown to Dr. Van Wagenen's office this morning for an X-ray examination to discover the course of the bullet. There are two holes in his body.

A barber at Tongore is believed to have had trouble with Brown and is missing. The sheriff's office, co-operating with the Ashokan police, is looking for the man who is described as about 45 years of age, 5 feet seven inches in height and with a hawklike nose as the chief facial characteristic.

STONY HOLLOW INSPIRES.

Somebody Who Can Write Gets Ideas From Its History.

Under the heading, "A Village of Better Memories," the New York Sun prints the following prose poem:

It is dusk, and snow is falling. Down from the Catskill peaks swoops a wind that carries men to their fire-sides and rattles the door in rage that it cannot reach them. Few will be abroad this night.

Close by the road, as it plunges from the broad uplands into a dismal gorge is a forlorn remnant of a house. It suggests those war-torn ruins of France and Belgium that form the background of our evil dreams. For age and disuse have trained their deadly fire upon it. The doors have rusted on their hinges, and one is fallen inward. The sash are gone and the icy wind whips through a tattered sieve of mosquito netting tacked to one of the staring second story windows. That flapping reminder of bygone days hangs in the breeze and the banner of Stony Hollow.

Along the road as it dips precipitately toward Kingston and the Hudson are a dozen more houses, some of them frankly ruins, other exhibiting ragged signs of recent or present habitation. A dingy little post office and a new and large saloon, and you have all of Stony Hollow. Yet a great deal of New York City came out of it. That narrow gorge once resounded to the hum of man's activities, good, bad and indifferent. Money was made and spent there with a rapidity that suggested a western mining town on the boom. The town was an exotic flower, poisonous mayhap, growing from that stern mountain soil. Then a blight fell on it, and it withered, and the dried stalk of it sways in the wind.

An exceptional quality of stone was quarried there. Skilled workmen were drawn from far and near. Profits were big, wages were high. Houses went up, prices soared.

Then reverses came. One can imagine a potent curse laid upon it, so thorough was its downfall. Finally the quarries closed. The workmen drifted off with their families. Fire swept the place, burning seven houses. None was rebuilt except the saloon; their blackened timbers litter the ground. Old men and women who live with their memories, point out the sites of these dwellings, and re-people them with faces from the past.

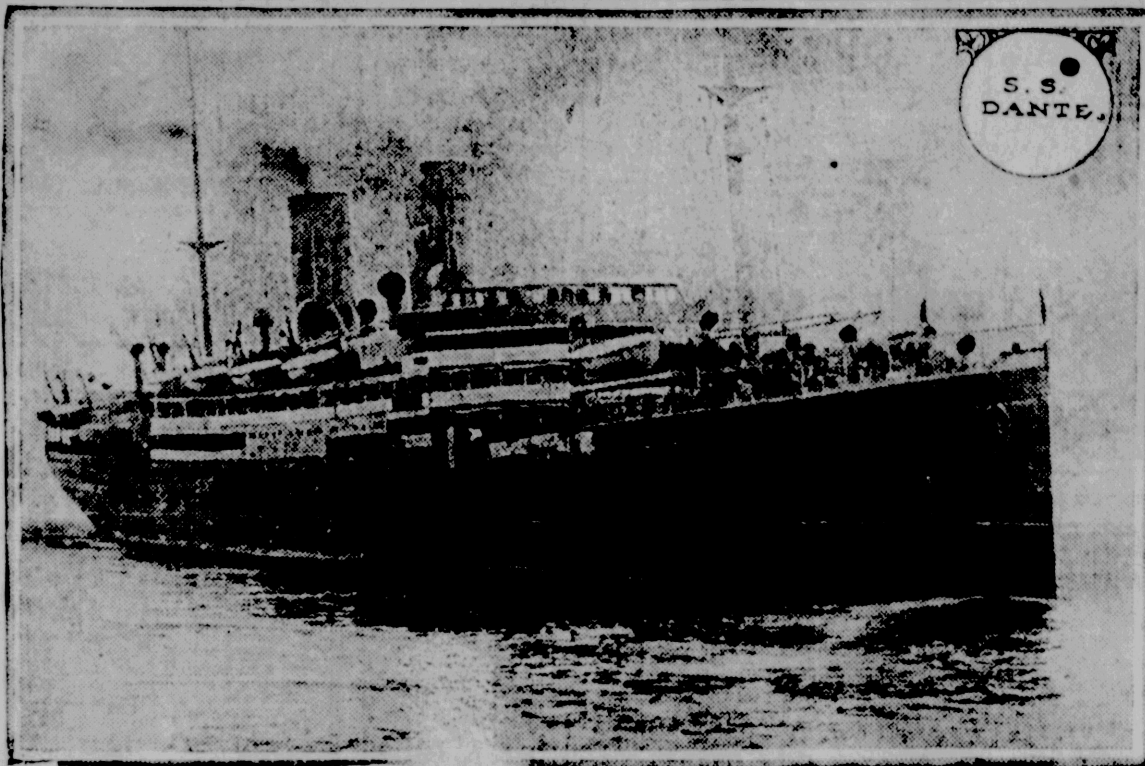

Most cities and towns have personality. One is a smug business man, one a ruined aristocrat, here an old lady in lavender, there a hobbled boy. Stony Hollow is an old, old man, dreaming of past riches on a bench beside the door of an almshouse.

Sewing Bee.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will hold the first of a series of sewing bees in the chapel on Thursday afternoon, February 15, beginning at 2:30. The sewing this year will be layettes and the cutting committee, Mrs. John Huhne and Mrs. H. E. Brown are already hard at work setting the garments ready for the seamstresses. An efficient committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. G. Holmes, will serve supper, for which the nominal charge of ten cents will be made. All the ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to sew, eat and stay to prayer meetings.

Fog Halts Warfare.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, via Sayville wireless, Feb. 13.—A dense fog that has set in over the entire western fighting front has limited operations in that area, the war office announced today. Artillery firing has increased in the Somme sector and was especially lively last night between St. Pierre Vaast Wood and Peronne. Hostile reconnoitering detachments made several attempts to advance between Ypres and Arras but were driven back.

ITALIAN LINER LONG OVERDUE.

(Italian Liner Dante.)

New York, Feb. 13.—Officials of the Italian Line Steamship Company are much worried over the fate of their steamer Dante, which should have arrived in New York on February 4. No word has been received from the Dante and it is feared that the big liner has been sunk by a German submarine.

MONDAY NIGHT WAS COLDER YET

Fully Two Degrees Colder Than Sunday Night—City Residents Hope Weather Man Has Not Fallen Down on Warmer Weather Prediction.

The coldest weather so far this winter was experienced Monday night when the thermometer dropped two degrees lower than Sunday night, and while there is no indication as far as seen that warmer weather may be expected, yet Kingston residents are devoutly hoping that the weather bureau's prediction of warmer weather may be fulfilled. At the city hall where it registered Monday morning at zero at 6 o'clock, this morning at the same time it registered 2 degrees below zero. The thermometer at police headquarters always registers from 6 to 8 degrees warmer than other thermometers owing to the fact that it is not in an exposed position.

So heavy has the ice grown in the Hudson river that the ferry Transport made its last trips on Monday. The ice in the river varies in thickness, being fully 16 inches in thickness in some places.

The ice men have been able to harvest all the ice they needed this winter, and it has been of the best quality harvested in years. At some of the houses along the river they have secured all of the crop desired.

DAY'S DOINGS IN CONGRESS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 13.—House met at 11 o'clock and resumed debate of naval appropriation bill.

Senate met at 11 o'clock.

House interstate commerce committee considered measures to prevent car shortage.

House merchant marine committee considered war amendments to shipping bill.

House district of Columbia committee held hearings on District prohibition bill.

House postoffice committee held hearing on Bankhead Bill closing mails in dry territory to liquor advertisements.

Fire Destroys Old Academy.

Fire Sunday morning destroyed the imposing structure which for 80 years has stood on College Hill, Poughkeepsie, and which once housed the Collegiate School and Riverview Academy. Built in 1830 by a progressive body of citizens, the building was modeled on the Greek Parthenon. In 1892, William W. Smith acquired the property, which was later given to the city as a park site.

Pearl Gatherers To Meet.

The Pearl Gatherers' Sunday School class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a social afternoon on Wednesday with Mrs. Cobb at her home No. 67 Van Buren street. The afternoon will be devoted to tacking quilts and sewing and the ladies of the church are cordially invited to be present.

Gerard to Go to Paris.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berne, Switzerland, Feb. 13.—Arrangements were made here today for the departure on Thursday of American Ambassador James W. Gerard and his party for Paris. From Paris the party will go to Barcelona to sail for Cuba on a Spanish liner.

DEWITT HEADS JEFF. LEAGUE

At the meeting of the Jeffersonian League, held last evening in their new club rooms in the Corbys row on Fair street, a resolution endorsing the action taken by President Wilson in the present situation was introduced by W. Scott Gillespie and unanimously adopted.

The drawing up of a constitution is still in the hands of the committee appointed for that work and pending the adoption of the constitution temporary officers were elected at the meeting last night. The officers elected are: William C. DeWitt, president; M. A. Meagher, secretary; Holt N. Winfield of Ulster Park, treasurer.

The meeting was attended by a large number of people interested in the league and during the meeting a number of patriotic talks were given by the members. The league now has a membership of over 800 throughout the county and the aim of the organizers is to attain a membership of 1,000 within a short time.

President William C. DeWitt was authorized to prepare a list of vice presidents and submit it at the next meeting when other important business in effecting a permanent organization will be taken up. The meetings of the league will hereafter be held in their club rooms which have been furnished and will be open for use of the members.

Wilbur Minstrels at Sawkill.

Sawkill, Feb. 13.—The Wilbur Dramatic Club will give Sawkill folks a great surprise when they will present their minstrels which made such a hit in Kingston at St. Ann's Hall, Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock for the benefit of St. Ann's Church. The show promises to be a good one. Several sleigh loads are expected from Wilbur, Eddyville, Kingston, Ruby and Saugerties. An ice cream social will be held at the close and a warm lunch will be served by the St. Ann's Society. Messrs. Boice of Sawkill will furnish excellent music. Thomas Callahan and L. B. Leahy will have charge of the door receipts and E. D. W. McCaffrey and James Brophy will be floor managers. John Cokery will act as special police.

Masked Robbers Get $3,000.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Jose, Cal., Feb. 13.—Three masked robbers heavily armed entered the barns of the San Jose Street Railway Company early today, overpowered, bound and gagged five employees, blew open three safes and escaped with about $3,000. The money represented the receipts of the company for Sunday and Monday.

New York Boys Honored.

Rodman B. Montgomery of Rhinebeck and John W. Munroe of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., have been cited in the dispatches for "devotion and courage in dangerous services around Monastir." Both are members of American Field Ambulance Section No. 3, which went to the Balkans with the French expeditionary force.

Holiday Cold and Quiet.

Lincoln's Birthday was quietly observed in Kingston, the banks and public offices being closed and flags displayed in many homes and business places. The extreme cold prevented any from holiday doings during the day and the snow has so covered the ice as to call skating off for a time.

German Raider Reported Sunk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buenos Ayres, Feb. 13.—A German raider, supposedly the Vineta, has been sunk in a battle with British cruisers, according to a report received here by the newspaper La Razion. The report stated that one of the British cruisers was damaged in the battle.

CUBAN TROUBLES NOT YET ENDED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Havana, Feb. 13.—No word had reached here early today from San Diego, which was reported in dispatches last night as being seized by rebel forces under command of Major Rigoberto Fernandez.

A heavy guard has been placed around the palace here and numerous arrests have been made as a result of the uprising against the government but so far there have been no great disorders.

Reports are current here that Gen. Jose Gomez is heading a band of three thousand uprisers in the Santa Clara province but are given little credence here.

Several clashes between government forces and rebels in Santa Clara province yesterday resulted in ten killed and several wounded. The mayor and chief of police of the town of Rodas were reported among the rebels killed.

Telegraph wires have been cut on the borders of Santa Clara and Camaguey, but it is expected the wireless will be working today.

DIRTY LAUNDRIES.

Chinese are Cleaner Than White Persons, in Many Instances.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 13.—Sanitary conditions prevailing in Chinese laundries are far superior to those of hand laundries operated by white persons.

This is the verdict of the United States public health service, made public today following a thorough investigation of representative laundry establishments in New York City. The principal drawback of the Chinese laundry is that the "blow can" is used for dampening clothes for ironing and this practice permits the dissemination of germs.

In hand laundries and steam laundries danger of the spread of germs is present because of the failure to separate clean clothes from soiled ones, the report says. Soiled and clean clothes are carried in the same delivery wagons by many laundries, it is stated.

The principal danger in steam laundries is that clothes are packed too tightly in the nets in which they pass through the steam cleaning process. Sufficient heat and dampness does not penetrate all the clothes to insure death to germs.

Bonuses in Paper Mills.

The Holden and Little Falls paper mills in New Windsor have adopted the bonus system. On a recent pay day the men in the Holden mill received bonuses of $6.38. The female employees in both mills have received an advance in wages. Girls in the rag room, where the sorting of rags is done, have been raised from 7 to 10 per cent. In other departments of the mill where females are employed an advance of from 6 to 12 per cent has been given. Both mills are rushed night and day with orders.

Romans to Eject Goethe.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, Feb. 13.—Reports that the municipal authorities of Rome have decided that the last Goethe must leave the Eternal City reached here today. The statue of Goethe, presented by Kaiser Wilhelm several years ago, is to be ejected from the Villa Porghese, according to the reports.

Four Killed by Collision.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Louisville, Ky., Feb. 13.—Four persons, all residents of Louisville, are dead, and more than a score suffering from injuries, some serious, today as a result of a collision between a Southern Railway locomotive and a crowded trolley car. The car was demolished.

LONDON HEARS OF GERMAN WARNING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 13.—Germany has issued warning that all periods of grace for neutral ships in the barred zone have expired, according to dispatches from Amsterdam today. An official statement has been issued in which neutrals are warned that hereafter all neutral ships entering the barred zone do so with a knowledge of the dangers they will face and at their own risk.

Germany's warning is believed to mean that she will now pursue her relentless U boat warfare to the full limit, regardless of neutrals.

In the official statement the German government also takes occasion to deny that neutral ships sunk prior to this time have not been accorded warning. It declares that all reports that neutral ships have been torpedoed without warning during the period of grace within the barred zone are false.

The North Sea zone time limit was up on February 6 and the Mediterranean zone on February 10.

The German statement added that periods of grace had included enemy passenger liners also as it was thought some citizens of neutral countries may have sailed on them before the announcement of the U boat policy. This declaration was taken here to mean that in the future enemy passenger liners will be treated by German U boats the same as merchantmen.

LAW TO PROTECT SHEEP EXPLAINED

Increased License Fee For Dogs Decried by Senator Wicks Who Wants to Restore Sheep Raising as an Industry in New York State.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 13.—In view of the fact that many have misinterpreted his bill relative to the raising of sheep in this state, Senator Charles W. Wicks has explained to the writer the main provisions of the measure with the hope that it will set at rest further misconception.

The Wicks bill to restrict dogs in order that sheep raising may be encouraged, in its present state provides that any person keeping a dog in a town, village or city of the third class, shall secure a license from the town or city clerk each year and pay therefor $3.00 for a male or a spayed female $5.00 and for each additional female $10.00. Kennels are licensed for $20.00, such license covering all dogs confined in such kennel. This is the explanation relative to dog taxation, but there are innumerable other provisions relative to the duties of the town or village clerk in connection with the collection of the license.

No dog when either securely muzzled or accompanied by or being within reasonable control of its owner or a competent person having charge of the animal, is to be shot for running or running at large on farm lands.

The clause of the Wicks bill relative to the killing of dogs for running at large was incorporated in it for the purpose of protecting sheep from being worried. It is a well known fact that dogs are the greatest menace to sheep and the highest barrier to sheep raising which a farmer has to face.

The report of the Wicks committee relative to the advantage in New York state for sheep raising shows that there are 5,000,000 acres which are adapted to the raising of these animals, that the prices have risen to the burdensome point and are still rapidly rising and that the testimony of farmers appearing before the committee was to the effect that the unrestrained dog was absolutely the most serious drawback to the raising of sheep. It was for this reason that the provisions against the prowling dog was inserted.

There seems to have been objection on the part of certain dog lovers to such provisions, but it is said that the mere affection for dogs on the part of fanciers shall not longer continue to be an obstacle to those who desire to raise sheep and thus encourage an industry that has been long neglected in the Empire State.

While Senator Wicks does not intend to strike at valuable dogs it is understood that he is firm in his intention to have his bill strike at the mongrel animals, or in fact any animals which are sheep worriers. Once harassed by a dog, a flock of sheep is never the same and constant subtraction to the annoyance of dogs has been one of the main reasons why many farmers have ceased to endeavor to raise sheep on a large scale.

It is pointed out that sheep are of value commercially and that dogs are not and that unless something is done to check the vagrant dog so that sheep may be allowed to thrive unmolested the dogs will multiply and the sheep will not. As one legislator puts it, it is a question of sentiment against sound commercial enterprise; whether sheep shall be raised or fancy dogs gambol about to the delight of a sentimental owner, or acres which might be utilized for sheep raising, vacant.

Clam Chowder at Rosendale.

The ladies of the Rosendale Baptist Church will have a clam chowder supper in the church parlors at the usual prices on February 22.

TOO MUCH OF BACON AND EGGS

Also Beans and Hash Caused Soldier Boys to Desert—Not Enough Sleep And Not Warmly Dressed Other Reasons—Picked up by Police.

Monday evening Policemen Snyder and Simpson picked up Arthur Fairchild and Benny Elson, two deserters from Company D of Albany, who had made a break from camp Monday morning, but only got as far as Kingston. The Company D boys are guarding the aqueduct near Stone Ridge, and are quartered in barracks formerly occupied by the board of water supply police about three miles from the village. Lieutenant Crosby of Company D telephoned a general alarm to locate the deserters when their absence from camp was discovered. A third soldier, Fred Akin, also deserted at the same time, but he evidently got out of Kingston in time for he was not located by the police.

The two deserters caught are both young men. Elson is employed in a felt mill, and Fairchild is a brakeman on the B. & O. At police headquarters this morning they told freely why they deserted. They are being held until their commanding officer sends an escort after them.

Asked as to how it happened that they had deserted they said that they did not care for the food served. Questioned as to what they had to eat they said, "Bacon and eggs every morning for breakfast, beans for dinner and hash for supper." The coffee served was also not up to the standard they were used to at home. "Were the eggs fresh?" was asked the boys.

"Don't know, as we did not see them," answered one of the soldiers. He added, "They were served scrambled."

Both soldiers wore the same uniforms and hats they had worn at Camp Whitman the past summer. While equipped with winter overcoats they wore their summer uniforms underneath and said they had not been furnished with winter uniforms as the company had not had enough to go around.

They slept sixteen in a small room which was heated with hot air heater, and as they had no coats, slept on the floor. They said the weather was 16 degrees below zero, and it was extremely cold on patrol duty during the night.

They said that another reason for their deserting was because they did not get enough sleep.

Asked if they did not think deserting would give them "a black eye," one of the replied that the people knew the National Guard were not taken care of as the government ought to care for them by distributing supplies, and they did not think they would be blamed for deserting.

They left Stone Ridge about 11 o'clock Monday morning and walked for some distance, slipping past the guard. They stopped at a farm house and were royally treated when they explained they were on their way to Albany. The boys said that the farmers in that vicinity could not do enough for them and treated them as though they were princes and kings. They reached Kingston late Monday afternoon and knocked about town until picked up.

Fairchild said that one of the reasons he had deserted was because he had kidney trouble and wanted to have his own doctor treat him. Other doctors only gave him pills and they did not do any good. There is a camp doctor with the company, but he also only doses them with pills.

SUCCESSFUL MINSTRELS.

Wilbur Boys Give Fine Performance Monday Evening.

St. Mary's Hall was filled with a large and appreciative audience on Monday evening when the Wilbur boys gave a fine minstrel show, and the entire program went off without a hitch. It was one of the best amateur shows given in Kingston in some time. Supervisor George Schick was interlocutor and the end men were John McLean, Thomas Wayne, Frank Oulton, Henry Carter and Peter McCutcheon. The boys in the circle were William McManus, Martin Daly, George McLean, Frank Carlin, Thomas Murphy, Frank Cragin, John Scully, Charles Cole and Edward Leonard. Miss Agnes Keeler was the accompanist and George Meyers was stage manager. The program as given in The Freeman recently was presented in a faultless manner and each and every one of the boys came in for a full share of the credit for the fine show.

They Made Him Buy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
St. Louis, Feb. 12.—Bandits who make you buy drinks for them have entered hold-up circles here. Edward Graham went to a vaudeville show in a downtown theatre. During the intermission Edward stepped across the street to a saloon. When he went behind a partition in the saloon three bold men drew revolvers, ordered him to sit down at a table and made him buy drinks for them. He was so terrified he declared he "bought" for an hour.

Laymen to Meet and Dine.

The Kingston Laymen's Association will meet Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. where supper will be served. Following supper speeches will be made. The principal address will be delivered by Recorder Andrew Lang who will speak on the boy problem in Kingston.

BROWN IS SHOT; BARBER MISSING

Tongore Italian in Hospital With Two Bullet Wounds—Shot Monday Night by an Unknown Assassin.

Considerable excitement was created in Tongore at 10:20 o'clock Monday night when James Brown, an Italian, was shot by a man believed to be a fellow countryman while driving through the village. Brown had just driven Captain Papen, the surgeon attached to the Albany battalion, to Brown's Station and was returning home when fired upon. Captain Papen was called to attend his erstwhile driver and directed that he be sent to Kingston. Brown arrived at the Kingston City Hospital at 2:30 o'clock this morning. Assistant District Attorney J. Deputy Hasbrouck took a statement of the shooting from the injured man.

One bullet was found, having passed between two ribs on the left side a few inches below the heart. Dr. Stern took Brown to Dr. Van Wageningen's office this morning for an X-ray examination to discover the course of the bullet. There are two holes in his body.

A barber at Tongore is believed to have had trouble with Brown and is missing. The sheriff's office, co-operating with the Ashkun police, is looking for the man who is described as about 45 years of age, 5 feet seven inches in height and with a hawklike nose as the chief facial characteristic.

STONY HOLLOW INSPIRES.

Somebody Who Can Write Gets Ideas From Its History.

Under the heading, "A Village of Better Memories," the New York Sun prints the following prose poem:

It is dusk, and snow is falling. Down from the Catskill peaks swoops a wind that harries men to their fire-sides and rattles the door in rage that it cannot reach them. Few will be abroad this night.

Close by the road as it plunges from the broad uplands into a dismal gorge is a ruinous remnant of a house. It suggests those war-torn ruins of France and Belgium that form the background of our evil dreams, for age and disease have trained their deadly fire upon it. The doors have rusted on their hinges, and one is fallen inward. The "sash" are gone and the icy wind whips through a tattered sieve of mosquito netting tacked to one of the staring second story windows. That flapping reminder of balmy days long past is the badge and banner of Stony Hollow.

Along the road as it dips precipitately toward Kingston and the Hudson are a dozen more houses, some of them frankly ruins, other exhibiting ragged staves of windows, a curl of smoke or the dim light of an early lamp as signs of recent or present habitation. A dingy little post office and a new and large saloon, and you have all of Stony Hollow.

Yet a great deal of New York city came out of it. That narrow gorge once resounded to the hum of man's activities, good, bad and indifferent. Money was made and spent there with a rapidity that suggested a western mining town on the boom. The town was an exotic flower, poisonous mayhap, growing from that stony mountain soil. Then a blight fell on it, and it withered, and the dried stalk of it sways in the wind.

An exceptional quality of stone was quarried there. Skilled workmen were drawn from far and near. Profits were big, wages were high. Houses went up, prices soared.

Then reverses came. One can imagine a point where laid upon it, so thorough was its downfall. Finally the quarries closed. The workmen drifted off with their families. Fire swept the place, burning seven houses. None was rebuilt except the saloon; their blackened timbers litter the ground. Old men and women who live with their memories, point out the sites of these dwellings, and re-people them with faces from the past.

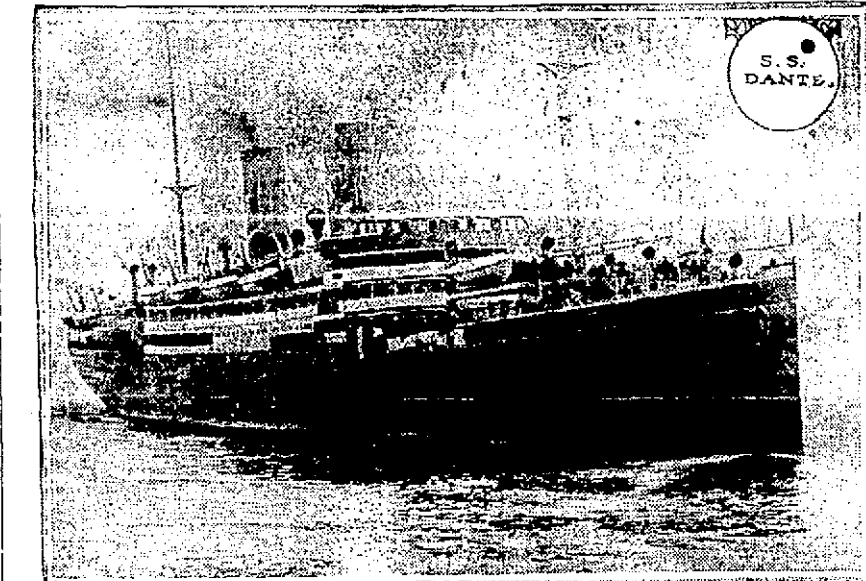

Most cities and towns have personality. One is a snug business man, one a ruined aristocrat, here an old lady in lavender, there a hobbled boy. Stony Hollow is an old, old man, dreaming of past riches on a bench beside the door of an almshouse.

Sowing Bee.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Rondout Presbyterian Church will hold the first of a series of sowing bees in the chapel on Thursday afternoon, February 15, beginning at 2:30. The sewing this year will be layettes and the cutting committee, Mrs. John Huhue and Mrs. H. E. Brown are already hard at work getting the garments ready for the seamstresses. An efficient committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. M. G. Holmes will serve supper, for which the nominal charge of ten cents will be made. All the ladies of the congregation are cordially invited to sew, eat and stay to prayer meeting.

Fog Halts Warfare.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Berlin, via Seyville wireless, Feb. 13.—A dense fog that has settled down over the entire western fighting front has limited operations in that area, the war office announced today. Artillery firing has increased in the German sector and was especially lively last night between St. Pierre Vaast Wood and Peronne. Hostile reconnoitering detachments made several attempts to advance between Ypres and Arras but were driven back.

ITALIAN LINER LONG OVERDUE.

(Italian Liner Dante.)

New York, Feb. 13.—Officials of the Italian Line Steamship Company are much worried over the fate of their steamer Dante, which should have arrived in New York on February 4. No word has been received from the Dante and it is feared that the big liner has been sunk by a German submarine.

MONDAY NIGHT WAS COLDER YET

Fully Two Degrees Colder, Than Sunday Night—City Residents Hope Weather Man Has Not Fallen Down on Warmer Weather Prediction.

The coldest weather so far this winter was experienced Monday night when the thermometer dropped two degrees lower than Sunday night, and while there is no indication as far as seen that warmer weather may be expected, yet Kingston residents are devoutly hoping that the weather bureau's prediction of warmer weather may be fulfilled. At the city hall where it registered Monday morning at zero at 6 o'clock, this morning, at the same time it registered 2 degrees below zero. The thermometer at police headquarters always registers from 0 to 5 degrees warmer than other thermometers owing to the fact that it is not in an exposed position.

So heavy has the ice grown in the Hudson river that the ferry Transport made its last trips on Monday. The ice in the river varies in thickness, being fully 16 inches in thickness in some places.

The ice-men have been able to harvest all the ice they needed this winter, and it has been of the best quality harvested in years. At some of the houses along the river they have knocked off harvesting as they had secured all of the crop desired.

DAY'S DOINGS IN CONGRESS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 13.—House met at 11 o'clock and resumed debate of naval appropriation bill.

Senate met at 11 o'clock. House interstate commerce committee considered measures to prevent car shortage.

House merchant marine committee considered war amendments to shipping bill.

House district of Columbia committee held hearings on District prohibition bill.

House postoffice committee held hearing on Bankhead Bill closing mails in dry territory to liquor advertisements.

Fire Destroys Old Academy.

Fire Sunday morning destroyed the imposing structure which for 80 years has stood on College Hill, Poughkeepsie, and which once housed the Collegiate School and Riverview Academy. Built in 1930 by a progressive body of citizens, the building was modeled on the Greek Parthenon. In 1892, William W. Smith acquired the property, which was later given to the city as a park site.

Pearl Gatherers To Meet.

The Pearl Gatherers' Sunday School class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a social afternoon on Wednesday with Mrs. Cobb at her home No. 67 Van Buren street. The afternoon will be devoted to talking quilts and sewing and the ladies of the church are cordially invited to be present.

Gerard to Go to Paris.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Bern, Switzerland, Feb. 13.—Arrangements were made here today for the departure on Thursday of American Ambassador James W. Gerard and his party for Paris. From Paris the party will go to Barcelona to sail for Cuba on a Spanish liner.

DEWITT HEADS JEFF. LEAGUE

At the meeting of the Jeffersonian League, held last evening in their new club rooms in the Corbitts row on Fair street, a resolution endorsing the action taken by President Wilson in the present situation was introduced by W. Scott Gillespie and unanimously adopted.

The drawing up of a constitution appointed for that work and pending the adoption of the constitution temporary officers were elected at the meeting last night. The officers elected are: William C. DeWitt, president; M. A. Meagher, secretary; Holt N. Winfield of Ulster Park, treasurer.

The meeting was attended by a large number of people interested in the league and during the meeting a number of patriotic talks were given by the members. The league now has a membership of over 800 throughout the county and the aim of the organization is to build a membership of 1,900 within a short time.

President William C. DeWitt was authorized to prepare a list of vice presidents and submit it at the next meeting when other important business in effecting a permanent organization will be taken up. The meetings of the league will hereafter be held in their club rooms which have been furnished and will be open for use of the members.

Wilbur Minstrels at Sawkill.

Sawkill, Feb. 13.—The Wilbur Dramatic Club will give Sawkill folks a great surprise when they will present their minstrel show which made such a hit in Kingston at St. Ann's Hall, Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock for the benefit of St. Ann's Church. The show promises to be a good one. Several sleigh loads are expected from Wilbur, Eddyville, Kingston, Ruby and Saugerties. An ice cream social will be held at the close and a warm lunch will be served by the St. Ann's Society. Messrs. Boice of Sawkill will furnish excellent music. Thomas Callahan and L. B. Leahy will have charge of the door receipts and E. D. W. McCaffrey and James Murphy will be floor managers. John Cokery will act as special police.

Masked Robbers Get $3,000.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Jose, Cal., Feb. 13.—Three masked robbers heavily armed entered the banks of the San Jose Street Railway Company early today, overpowered, bound and gagged five employees, blew open three safes and escaped with about $3,000. The money represented the receipts of the company for Sunday and Monday.

New York Boys Honored.

Rodman B. Montgomery of Rhinebeck and John W. Munroe of Tuxedo Park, N. Y., have been cited in the dispatches for "devotion and courage in dangerous services around Monastir." Both are members of American Field Ambulance Section No. 3, which went to the Balkans with the French expeditionary force.

Holiday Cold and Quiet.

Lincoln's Birthday was quietly observed in Kingston, the banks and public offices being closed and flags displayed in many homes and business places. The extreme cold prevented any from holiday doings during the day and the snow has covered the ice as to call skating off for a time.

German Raider Reported Sunk.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Buenos Ayres, Feb. 12.—A German raider, supposedly the Vineta, has been sunk in a battle with British cruisers, according to a report received here by the newspaper La Razon. The report stated that one of the British cruisers was damaged in the battle.

CUBAN TROUBLES NOT YET ENDED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Havana, Feb. 13.—No word had reached here early today from San Diego, which was reported in dispatches last night as being seized by rebel forces under command of Major Rigoberto Fernandez.

A heavy guard has been placed around the palace here and numerous arrests have been made as a result of the uprising against the government but so far there have been no great disorders.

Reports are current here that Gen. Jose Gomez is heading a band of three thousand uprisers in the Santa Clara province but are given little credence here.

Several clashes between government forces and rebels in Santa Clara province yesterday resulted in ten killed and several wounded.

The mayor and chief of police of the town of Rodas were reported among the rebels killed.

Telegraph wires have been cut on the borders of Santa Clara and Carabobo, but it is expected the wireless will be working today.

DIRTY LAUNDRIES.

Persons, in Many Instances.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 13.—Sanitary conditions prevailing in Chinese laundries are far superior to those of hand laundries operated by white persons.

This is the verdict of the United States public health service, made public today following a thorough investigation of representative laundry establishments in New York city. The principal drawback of the Chinese laundry is that the "blow can" is used for dampening clothes for ironing and this practice permits the dissemination of germs.

In hand laundries and steam laundries danger of the spread of germs is present because of the failure to separate clean clothes from soiled ones, the report says. Soiled and clean clothes are carried in the same delivery wagons by many laundries. It is stated.

The principal danger in steam laundries is that clothes are packed too tightly in the bins in which they pass through the steam cleaning process. Sufficient heat and dampness does not penetrate all the clothes to insure death to germs.

Rumors in Paper Mills.

The Holden and Little Falls paper mills in New Windsor have adopted the bonus system. On a recent pay day the men in the Holden mill received bonuses of $8.38. The female employees in both mills have received an advance in wages. Girls in the rag room, where the sorting of rags is done, have been raised from 7 to 10 per cent. In other departments of the mill where females are employed an advance of from 6 to 12 per cent has been given. Both mills are rushed night and day with orders.

Romans to Eject Gueche.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Bertha, Feb. 13.—Reports that the municipal authorities of Rome have decided that the last German must leave the Eternal City reached here today. The status of Gueche, president of Kaiser Wilhelm several years ago, is to be ejected from the Villa Doria-Palace, according to the reports.

Four Killed by Collision.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Louisville, Ky., Feb. 13.—Four persons, all residents of Louisville, are dead, and more than a score suffering from injuries, some serious today as a result of a collision between a Southern Railway locomotive and a crowded trolley car. The car was demolished.

LONDON HEARS OF GERMAN WARNING

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 13.—Germany has issued warning that all periods of grace for neutral ships in the barred zone have expired, according to dispatches from Amsterdam today. An official statement has been issued in which neutrals are warned that hereafter all neutral ships entering the barred zone do so with a knowledge of the dangers they will face and at their own risk.

Germany's warning is believed to mean that she will now pursue her relentless U boat warfare to the full limit, regardless of neutrals. In the official statement the German government also takes occasion to deny that neutral ships sunk prior to this time have not been accorded warning. It declares that all reports that neutral ships have been torpedoed without warning during the period of grace within the barred zone are false.

The North Sea zone time limit was up on February 6 and the Mediterranean zone on February 10.

The German statement added that periods of grace had included enemy passenger liners also as it was thought some citizens of neutral countries may have sailed on them before the announcement of the U boat policy. This declaration was taken to mean that in the future enemy passenger liners will be treated by German U boats the same as merchantmen.

LAW TO PROTECT SHEEP EXPLAINED

Increased License Fee For Dogs Decried by Senator Wicks Who Wants to Restore Sheep Raising as an Industry in New York State.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Feb. 13.—In view of the fact that many have misinterpreted his bill relative to the raising of sheep in this state, Senator Charles W. Wicks has explained to the writer the main provisions of the measure with the hope that it will set at rest further misconception.

"The Wicks bill" to restrict dogs in order that sheep raising may be encouraged, in its present state provides that any person keeping a dog in a town, village or city of the third class shall secure a license from the town or city clerk each year and pay therefor $3.00 for a male or a spayed female $5.00 and for each additional female $10.00. Kennels are licensed for $20.00, such license covering all dogs confined in such kennel. This is the explanation relative to dog taxation, but there are innumerable other provisions relative to the duties of the town or village clerk in connection with the collection of the license.

No dog when either securely muzzled or accompanied by or being under reasonable control of its owner or a competent person having charge of the animal, is to be shot for running or running at large on farm lands.

The clause of the Wicks bill relative to the killing of dogs for running at large was incorporated in it for the purpose of protecting sheep from being worried. It is a well known fact that dogs are the greatest menace to sheep and the highest barrier to sheep raising which a farmer has to face.

The report of the Wicks committee relative to the advantage in New York state for sheep raising shows that there are 5,000,000 acres which are adapted to the raising of these animals; that prices have risen to the burdensome point and are still rapidly rising and that the testimony of farmers appearing before the committee was to the effect that the unrestrained dog was absolutely the most serious drawback to the raising of sheep. It was for this reason that the provisions against the provision dog was inserted.

There seems to have been objection on the part of certain dog lovers to such provisions, but it is said that the more affection for dogs on the part of farmers shall not longer continue to be an obstacle to those who desire to raise sheep and thus encourage an industry that has been long neglected in the Empire State.

While Senator Wicks does not intend to strike at valuable dogs it is understood that he is firm in his intention to have his bill strike at the mongrel animals, or in fact any animals which are sheep worriers. Once harassed by a dog, a flock of sheep is never the same and constant subjection to the annoyance of dogs has been one of the main reasons why many farmers have ceased to endeavor to raise sheep on a large scale.

It is pointed out that sheep are of value commercially and that dogs are not and that unless something is done to check the vagrant dog so that sheep may be allowed to thrive, the sheep will not. As one legislator puts it, it is a question of sentiment against sound commercial enterprise; whether sheep shall be raised for the delight of a sentimental owner or acres which might be utilized for sheep raising, vacant.

Clam Chowder at Rosendale.

The ladies of the Rosendale Baptist Church will have a clam chowder supper in the church parlors at the usual prices on February 22.

TOO MUCH OF BACON AND EGGS

Also Beans and Hash Canned Soldier Boys to Desert—Not Enough Sleep And Not Warmly Dressed Other Reasons—Picked up by Police.

Monday evening Policemen Snyder and Simpson picked up Arthur Fairchild and Benny Elson, two deserters from Company D of Albany, who had made a break from camp Monday morning, but only got as far as Kingston. The Company D boys are guarding the aqueduct near Stone Ridge, and are quartered in barracks formerly occupied by the board of water supply police about three miles from the village. Lieutenant Crosby of Company D telephoned a general alarm to locate the deserters when their absence from camp was discovered. A third soldier, Fred Akin, also deserter, at the same time, but he evidently got out of Kingston in time for he was not located by the police.

The two deserters caught are both young men. Elson is employed in a felt mill, and Fairchild is a brakeman on the B. & O. At police headquarters this morning they told freely why they deserted. They are being held until their commanding officer sends an escort after them.

Asked as to how it happened that they had deserted they said that they did not care for the food served. Questioned as to what they had to eat they said, "Bacon and eggs every morning for breakfast, beans for dinner and hash for supper." The coffee served was also not up to the standard they were used to at home.

"Were the eggs fresh?" was asked the boys.

"Don't know, as we did not see them," answered one of the soldiers. He added, "They were served scrambled."

Both soldiers wore the same uniforms and hats they had worn at Camp Whitman the past summer. While equipped with winter overalls they wore their summer uniforms underneath and said they had not been furnished with winter uniforms as the company had not had enough to go around.

They slept sixteen in a small room which was heated with hot air heater, and as they had no coats, slept on the floor. They said the weather was 15 degrees below zero, and it was extremely cold on patrol duty during the nights.

They said that another reason for their deserting was because they did not get enough sleep.

Asked if they did not think deserting would give them "a black eye" one of the soldiers said that the people knew the National Guard were not taken care of at all. The government ought to care for them by distributing supplies, and they did not think they would be blamed for deserting.

They left Stone Ridge about 11 o'clock Monday morning and walked for some distance, slipping past the guard. They stopped at a farm house and were royally treated when they explained they were on their way to Albany. The boys said that the farmers in that vicinity could not do enough for them and treated them as though they were princes and kings. They reached Kingston late Monday afternoon and knocked about town until picked up.

Fairchild said that one of the reasons he had deserted was because he had kidney trouble and wanted to have his own doctor treat him. Other boys only gave him pills but they did not do any good. There is a camp doctor with the company, but he also only doses them with pills.

SUCCESSFUL MINSTRELS.

Wilbur Boys Give Fine Performance Monday Evening.

St. Mary's Hall was filled with a large and appreciative audience on Monday evening when the Wilbur boys gave a fine minstrel show, and the entire program went off without a hitch. It was one of the best amateur shows given in Kingston in some time. Supervisor George Schick was intercomedian and the end-men were John McLean, Thomas Waye, Frank Oulton, Henry Carter and Peter McCutcheon. The boys in the circle were William McLean, Martin Daly, George McLean, Frank Carlin, Thomas Murphy, Frank Cragin, John Scully, Charles Cole and Edward Leonard. Miss Agnes Keeler was the accompanist and George Meyers was stage manager.

The program as given in The Freeman recently was presented in a faultless manner and each and every one of the boys came in for a full share of the credit for the fine show.

They Made Him Buy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
St. Louis, Feb. 12.—Bandits who make you buy drinks for them have entered hold-up circles here. Edward Graham went to a vaudeville show in a downtown theatre. During the intermission Edward stepped across the street to a saloon. When he went behind a partition in the saloon three hold men drew revolvers, ordered him to sit down at a table and made him buy drinks for them. He was so terrified he declares he "bought" for an hour.

Laymen to Meet and Dine.

The Kingston Laymen's Association will meet Wednesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. where supper will be served. Following supper speeches will be made. The principal address will be delivered by Recorder Andrew Lang who will speak on the boy problem in Kingston.

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"Well I see the common council sidestepped the church-theater proposition again Tuesday night," said the street corner politician as he met his friend on the street.

"No they didn't," retorted the friend.

"How do you make that out?" queried the politician.

"Didn't they vote in favor of the church?" said the friend.

"They voted in favor of referring an ordinance to the laws and rules committee," replied the politician.

"But they went on record in favor of the position taken by the churches in the matter," commented the friend.

"I don't see it that way," replied the politician.

"How is that?" asked the friend.

"The way I take it," said the politician, "the city fathers by their action simply put the proposition back where it was in the beginning, and did not decide the question one way or the other."

"But the churches won a moral victory," contended the friend.

"Sure," replied the politician, "and that is all they did win, but nothing was done about adopting an ordinance prohibiting the erection of the theater on Wall street."

"How could they adopt an ordinance," retorted the friend, "as the one they rejected would make it impossible for the other places of amusement in Kingston to run, and they would have to close their doors."

"I grant that the ordinance the laws and rules committee reported adversely on might have done that, but I contend the common council could have taken action on the question despite that fact."

"How do you make that out?" asked the friend.

"Very easily," retorted the politician.

"Yes, but how?" persisted the friend.

"What they could have done as I view it," said the politician, "would have been to have amended the proposed ordinance where it would interfere with the existing places of amusement, and then have put the ordinance to a vote, and the question would have been settled right there."

"I never thought of that," said the friend.

"If they had done that," continued the politician, "the question would not have dragged on for no one knows how long."

"But they will probably take action at the March meeting," said the friend hopefully.

"Maybe," said the politician doubtfully, "but you must remember that the ordinance proposed by Alderman Purvis has to go through the usual channel."

"What channel?" queried the friend.

"Well the ordinance was referred to the laws and rules committee and the corporation counsel as I understand it to draft an ordinance to meet the request of the churches."

"That's what I think," said the friend.

"Well," continued the politician, "the last ordinance so referred has hung fire for some time, has it not?"

"It sure has," replied the friend.

"What to prevent the present proposed ordinance hanging fire the same length of time?" questioned the politician.

"I don't know," replied the friend, shaking his head.

"Another thing you must remember," said the politician, "is the fact that the corporation counsel is not expected back from his Isle of Pines plantation until April."

"What do you think of the proposition anyway?" asked the friend.

"I am with Alderman Schick on that question," replied the politician, "and I agree with him when he stated Tuesday night that the matter has hung fire long enough and should be settled one way or the other."

"That seems right," commented the friend.

"Sure it is right," said the politician, "it is not fair to either side to let the matter hang fire."

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, Feb. 12.—The Glenford Ladies' Aid spent Thursday at the parsonage.

The KITCHEN CABINET

My bounty is as boundless as the sea, My love as deep, the more I give to thee The more I have, for both are infinite. —Shakespeare.

USEFUL FROSTINGS.

Frostings on cake are not simply decorative although that is an important feature of a good frosting, but they also preserve the cake, keeping it moist and fresh longer than the uncovered cake.

Flavor is also added to a cake by proper use of different flavors in the frostings. By adding richness and flavor to a cake, frosting has a long list of things in its favor.

The uncooked frostings are especially economical in the time saved in the preparation. The frosting is entirely preserved in the frosting as the heat in baking destroys much of the volatile flavors.

While the cake is cooling the frosting should be made, and if it is to be served at once, the kind of frosting best to use is the uncooked one, using the white of an egg, beaten; adding an equal volume of water or fruit juice and powdered sugar to the consistency to spread. If it must stand, cover with a damp cloth. If fruit juice is not used, any flavor desired may be added with the water.

Plain Boiled Frosting.—Beat the white of an egg until light and while beating, have cooking a cupful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of water, when the sirup is honeylike in consistency pour three tablespoonfuls over the beaten egg, continue beating, and continue cooking the sirup until it hairs, then pour the remainder over the egg slowly and beat until stiff enough to put on the cake. A frosting made in this way will keep longer, will have a shiny surface and a creamy consistency underneath.

When frosting is overcooked and becomes too hard after beating, add a little lemon juice, boiling water or cream; very small amounts will make the frosting smooth. If it is too thin add a little powdered sugar to thicken it. The frosting will not be as good, but better than to try to use it too thin.

Atmospheric conditions often play havoc with boiling sugar. A damp rainy day the frosting is apt to be sticky, even when boiling as usual.

PRONUNCIATION IN IRELAND.

Many persons seem to see, or to hear, rather, something to be amused at in the soft Irish brogue. As a matter of fact, most of the words of the Irish "dialect" are not Irish at all, but the purest of English—English a trifle antiquated, it is true, but nevertheless the real thing. The ears of Milton, Dryden, Spenser and Chaucer would not have been surprised to hear an Irishman speak of "a rough say" or "a clane shirt." At the court of good Queen Bess the cultured Englishman carefully garnished his conversation with "goolie" rings and brave "swoodes" and bored his friends with accounts of the smart sayings of the "chilidre" at "doom." This was the English originally imported into Ireland by the cultured Irish, and the Irish have found it good enough to preserve.—Chicago Tribune.

Chinese Names.

"We may all be pardoned for giving up the puzzle of Chinese names," says a writer, "and yet this little vocabulary may help the newspaper reader through dispatches that come from China. King means metropolis; Fu, provincial capital; Chu, a second class city; Kien, a third class city; Kiang, a river; Ho, a stream; Hai, a lake or sea; Tao, island; Chan, a mountain; Ling, a pass; Ta, big; Siao, little; Kouan, fortress; Wei, camp; Men, carrier; Pei, north; Nan, south; Si, west; Chang, upper; Pai, white; Hei, black; Yang, blue. Naming therefore is southern metropolis; Peking northern metropolis.

To Repair Rubber.

As soon as a rubber article breaks, many people feel that it must be discarded at once. This is not always necessary. Many times a firm patch may be cemented over the break, making the article as good as new. There are those who do this business regularly. Some economists find it expedient to have their rubbers repaired when they first begin to wear, declaring that they can double the length of life of an ordinary pair by such attention.

The Word Metis.

The word metis, means mixed. It is from the French metis, a derivative of the Latin miscere, to mix. The term is first used in this country by the French-speaking population of the northwest to designate persons of mixed white and Indian blood. Among the Spanish-speaking population of the Southwest the word mestizo, of the same derivation, is used, but it applies more especially to those of half white and half Indian blood.

Get Mental Attitude Right.

Every wrong thought, every unkind, uncharitable thought, every jealous and even every selfish thought is a blood poisoner, a success and happiness hinderer. The blood cannot be pure, and hence the health cannot be right, unless the thought is pure, the motive pure, unless the mental attitude toward life is right.

RELIEF WORK FOR COMPANY M

The second meeting of the relief committee for Company M and the members of their families was held at supreme court chambers at the court house on Monday afternoon and was presided over by Chairman John D. Schoonmaker. Other members of the committee present were Secretary Everett Fowler, James O. Winston, Edward Coykendall, Judge A. T. Clearwater, Sam Bernstein, Dwight Divine and the Rev. J. J. Hickey.

The importance of the work of the relief committee was evidenced by the urgent appeal for help from a number of the boys at the front and up until Monday 14 families had been given assistance by the committee. The urgent call to service found many of the boys unprepared to face the cold weather and many were in need of gloves, socks and other cold weather necessities. These goods have been purchased by the relief committee and shipped to the members of the company.

Provisions have been made to secure accurate information of all of the needs that might arise on account of the absence of the boys and each individual case will be treated with as much generosity as the resources of the committee will permit. The committee has invited Mrs. MacMillan of the Social Service Bureau to inform them of the needs that were of an urgent nature and demanded the immediate attention of the committee. Every family in need on account of a member being called to the colors will be given prompt assistance.

If the boys of Company M remain long in service a great deal of assistance will be needed and the committee send out their appeal to every citizen in the county to give what assistance they may be able to in order to provide for the members of the company and also their families who have been left at home with, in many cases, but small means of support. Every contribution sent will be acknowledged and before any assistance is given a proper investigation will be made in order that the greatest amount of good may be derived from the money.

Besides helping the members of the local company any boy who resides in Ulster county and is a member of a company in another county will be given assistance, so the fund will provide for the assistance of Ulster county families no matter where they may have been called in service.

The contributions within the relief committee, received up until Monday night, amounted to $750, an increase of $100 since the last meeting.

The principal work accomplished at the meeting on Monday was to appoint a soliciting committee in the city and sub-committees in the villages and towns throughout the county. The members appointed on the sub-committees will be asked by the main relief committee to help in the relief work in their towns and villages and in this way every part of the county will be reached by the relief workers.

The committees appointed up until today were:

PRINCESS MARIE JOSE.

BELGIAN PRINCESS CHARMS THE BRITISH.

(Princess Marie Jose).

London, Feb. 13.—The little Princess Marie Jose of Belgium, though only nine years old, is one of the most tireless workers in the city. She is fully alive to the stern necessities of war and the fate of her country and is doing "her bit" to try to make life more pleasant for the wounded.

So cheery has the little Princess been throughout the war that the Belgian soldiers have lovingly entitled her "Marie Sunshine."

The old lord had been forced to flee with only 300 men before an enemy with 10,000 and barely had time to reach his castle ahead of his foes. There were no re-enforcements near at hand, and he knew that if an attempt was made to storm his defenses he and his men would be dead before help could come.

The enemy's forces advanced rapidly, and scouts rode up near the castle to reconnoiter. To their amazement, they found the gates, doors and windows open and all the appearance of a holiday celebration. They rode hastily back to inform their master that the foe was dancing and that bands were playing music in the castle.

The powerful enemy was too wise a man to put his head into any such trap as that. The defenders of the castle must have some plan to slaughter his forces by wholesale or they would never invite him in that way. He drew back to a safe distance and encamped to await developments.

Soon the re-enforcements for the castle came up behind, attacked him suddenly and defeated him, while the garri-son, which had risked all on the stratagem, charged him on the other side.

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"Well I see the common council stepped the church-theater proposition again Tuesday night. The street corner politician as he met his friend on the street.

"No they didn't," retorted the friend.

"How do you make that out?" queried the politician.

"Didn't they vote in favor of the church?" said the friend.

"They voted in favor of referring an ordinance to the laws and rules committee," replied the politician.

But they went on record in favor of the position taken by the churches in the matter," commented the friend.

"I don't see it that way," replied the politician.

"How is that?" asked the friend.

"The way I take it," said the politician, "the city fathers by their action simply put the proposition back where it was in the beginning and did not decide the question one way or the other."

"But the churches won a moral victory," contended the friend.

"Sure," replied the politician, "and that is all they did win, but nothing was done about adopting an ordinance prohibiting the erection of the theater on Wall street."

"How could they adopt an ordinance," retorted the friend, "as the churches would make it impossible for the other places of amusement in Kingston to run, and they would have to close their doors?"

"I grant that the ordinance the laws and rules committee reported adversely on might have done that, but it could have taken action on the question despite that fact."

"How do you make that out?" asked the friend.

"Very easily," retorted the politician.

"Yes but how?" persisted the friend.

"What they could have done as I view it," said the politician, "would have been to have amended the proposed ordinance where it would interfere with the existing places of amusement and then have put the ordinance to a vote, and the question would have been settled right there."

"I never thought of that," said the friend.

"If they had done that," continued the politician, "the question would not have dragged on for no one knows how long."

But they will probably take action at the March meeting," said the friend hopefully.

"Maybe," said the politician doubtfully, "but you must remember that the ordinance proposed by Alderman Lusk has to go through the usual channel."

"What channel?" queried the friend.

"Well the ordinance was referred to the laws and rules committee and then to the corporation counsel as I understand it to draft an ordinance to meet the request of the churches."

"That's what I think," said the friend.

Well, continued the politician, "the ordinance so referred has hung fire for some time, has it not?"

"It sure has," replied the friend.

"What to prevent the present proposed ordinance hanging fire the same length of time?" questioned the politician.

"I don't know," replied the friend, "sinking his head."

Another thing you must remember, said the politician, "is the fact that the corporation counsel is not expected back from his job of Plantation until April."

What do you think of the proposition anyway? asked the friend.

"I am with Alderman Lusk on that question," replied the politician, "and I agree with him when he stated Tuesday night that the matter has hung fire long enough and should be settled one way or the other."

"That seems right," commented the friend.

"Sure it is right," said the politician, "it is not fair to either side to let the matter hang fire."

ASPOKAN

Ashokan Feb 12.—The Glenford Ladies' Aid spent Thursday at the parsonage.

The town of Woodbury the 5th did quite a lot of damage to roofs and outbuildings in Aspoikan.

The Aspoikan fire department was called to the scene again after a severe attack of drip.

Many were out to see the soldiers arrive last Thursday by a special train. They were a fine lot of men, well clothed and provisioned for. They will occupy Look's house and the club house.

George Phillips of Kingston took dinner at Cyrus Cudney's on Thursday.

Redolphus Phillips is home for a few days from Newburgh where he has been with the De Laval Company.

Clarence Mae Tr. was in Poughkeepsie Friday where he took the civil service examinations for the railway mail clerk service.

The Ladies' Aid had a sewing bee and a chicken dinner at Mrs. Hutton's Wednesday.

Mrs. Lincoln Smith entertained company from the west last week.

Jay Cudney and "on Kennet" were up to see his father last Thursday.

Vincent Moore's teams of Glenford are drawing poles for B. Jones from the Coon's wood lot.

Miss May Bogart's Sunday school class gave her a birthday surprise party February 8, and everyone had a fine time.

Dr. Kamp of Woodstock visited his patients here on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Pierce and her mother Mrs. G. Geer left for the city on Saturday, stopping on the way to see Fred Pierce at the hospital in Kingston where he is slowly improving.

John Sichter and T. S. Lennox of Glenford were callers at the parsonage on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bogart and children were visitors at Clarence Mae's on Sunday.

The last snow of Friday helped the sleighing out and though we have had no large amount of snow this winter we have had a few drifts and quite a run of sleighing so far.

T. D. M. Seacor spent Sunday night in Kingston.

Mrs. Emily Pierce of Brookline spent Sunday with Mrs. Robert Seacor Sr.

The children in school who were perfect in attendance in January in Miss Little's room were Roy Coykendall, Emma Coykendall, Helen Keane, Olive Taylor, Viola Keane, Louise Thell, Edward Morris, Carrie Brooks, Virginia Harold, Hauck and Reginald Davis. Those who passed in the sixth and seventh grades were Edward Morris and Herman Morris. Virginia Jones sixth and Clifford Davis seventh. In the fifth grade those who passed were Mollie Lokert, Olive Barclay, Carrie Brooks, Mary Helen Emma Coykendall and Reginald Davis.

Accord, Feb 12.—R. H. Turner spent Saturday at Poughkeepsie. Relatives from saugerties have been visiting Roney Krom and family.

Mrs. R. Smith has been spending some time with friends at Kingston. Roy M. Heroy performed two marriage ceremonies Saturday. One was that of Samuel Ross of Wallkill and Miss Daisy Bell of this place. The other was that of Henry Krom of Lyonsville and Miss Nina Gray of Tabasco. We extend our congratulations.

The coldest weather of the winter thus far is with us Sunday morning. The thermometer registered 13 degrees below zero, while Monday it was 10 below.

The physical training teacher for this town and the neighboring town arrived Saturday.

Superior Lounsbury is improving in health.

The high winds of the past week have drifted the roads considerably in several places it is necessary to travel through the fields.

USEFUL FROSTINGS

Frostings on cake are not simply decorative although that is an important feature of a good frosting but they also preserve the cake, keeping it moist and fresh longer than the uncovered cake.

Flavor is also added to a cake by proper use of different frostings. By adding richness and flavor to a cake frosting has a long list of things in its favor.

The uncooked frostings are especially economical in the time saved in the preparation. The frosting is entirely preserved in the frosting as the heat in baking destroys much of the volatile flavors.

While the cake is cooling the frosting should be made, and if it is to be served at once the kind of frosting best to use is the uncooked one using the white of an egg, beaten, adding an equal volume of water or fruit juice and powdered sugar to the consistency to spread. If it must stand, cover with a damp cloth. If fruit juice is not used, any flavor desired may be added with the water.

Plain Baked Frosting—Beat the white of an egg until light and while beating, have cooking a cupful of sugar and a quarter of a cupful of water, when the syrup is honeylike in consistency pour three tablespoonsful over the beaten egg, continue beating, and continue cooking the syrup until it hairs, then pour the remainder over the egg slowly and beat until stiff enough to put on the cake. A frosting made in this way will keep longer will have a shiny surface and a creamy consistency underneath.

When frosting is overcooked and becomes too hard after beating, add a little lemon juice, boiling water or cream, very small amounts will make the frosting smooth. If it is too thin add a little powdered sugar to thicken it. The frosting will not be as good but better than to try to use it too thin.

Atmospheric conditions often play havoc with boiling sugar. A damp rainy day the frosting is apt to be sticky, even when boiling as usual.

Why hens never lay half an egg!

The usual method of feeding mostly grain, makes yolks but not enough whites to complete the eggs. As the hen cannot lay these half-made eggs, she absorbs them back into her system. Missouri Experiment Station tests showed that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks but only 154 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulates produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:

Purina Scratch Feed	247.49 yolks	142.11 whites
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05 "	282.55 "
Combined Ration	429.54 yolks	424.66 whites

Note the perfect balance of yolks and whites and the large number of each. This combination of Purina Feeds makes the maximum number of complete eggs, eggs a hen will lay. That's why we can absolutely guarantee

FARM LABOR NOW AND TOMORROW

Ithaca, Feb. 13.—The farm labor problem is one of the most difficult that besets American agriculture today, and the future promises no easy solution, according to Edward Van Alstyne, director of Farmers' Institutes in New York state, speaking here today before a farmers' week meeting at the state college of agriculture.

He discussed the farm labor problem and pointed out that though today with the aid of improved agricultural machinery, one man can do the work of five or ten men of forty years ago, it is not harder to get the one man than it used to be to employ the five or ten. Labor has left the farm for the cities because of shorter hours, regular work and higher wages. And it was the best class of farm hands who went to the cities—leaving the farmer to depend upon the most unskilled classes. He points out that the immigration of men who are fitted for farm labor has practically ceased today and maintains that it will not assume its former proportion for years to come, possibly never.

Suggestions For the Future.

That conditions will make it unwise to farm poor land which requires a maximum of labor to produce a minimum of crops and that the best land cannot be planted to low priced crops is the opinion expressed by Mr. Van Alstyne. He thinks that the scarcity of labor will largely determine the kinds of crops to be grown on our farms. The crop should be such as to permit the use of labor-saving machinery either loaned to the small farmer or hired by him. Continuous farm operations are advocated in order to keep a sufficient number of farm hands on the farms. Since many kinds of farm work require two or three men he suggests that the farmer plan his work to take advantage of the social instinct of men who like to work in pairs or groups, and thus make it easier to keep efficient farm help. He emphasized the fact that farming is more than a business or means of a livelihood—it is not just a question of individual success, because in farming one's well or woe is bound up with the welfare of the community.

HIGH FALLS.

High Falls, Feb. 13.—The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Shaffer and son, David, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Church, who have been home for a few days on account of illness, has again taken up her school duties.

Mr. and Mrs. James McCausland spent the past week end with their relatives in Kingston.

Benson Elmendorf is confined to his home on account of illness. Dr. Oliver is the attending physician.

Stanley Steen took a load of young people to Cottekill on Thursday evening to attend the play.

There will be a dance in St. John's Hall Wednesday evening of this week. Admission: Ladies, 10 cents; gentlemen, 25 cents.

Mrs. Agnew, who has been away for a short time, returned home this week.

Harold Ringrose, who has been spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Church, has gone back to Greenwich, Conn.

The Willing Workers met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Roosa on Saturday afternoon of this week. Miss Esther Wager, who makes her home with her aunt, Mrs. Roosa, is a member of the Willing Workers.

Miss Cynthia Van Wageningen called on Mrs. Oscar Church on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Imlay, who has been spending a few days in the city, returned home the first of the week. Miss Kate Clearwater, who accompanied her there, visited relatives in Jersey City.

The chicken supper, which was served by the men of the Reformed Church on Tuesday evening of this week, was a social and financial success. They cleared $70 and received through a gift $20, making the total proceeds $100. It certainly takes the men to do it!

The next social event to bear in mind is the play, "Mrs. Briggs of the Poultry Yard," which will be given by the Reformed people in the chapel on Friday, February 23.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas Niles were in town on Friday of the past week.

Miss Cynthia Van Wageningen had her tonsils and adenoids removed on Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Martha Sheeley. Dr. Charles P. Hutchins performed the operation. Dr. Sherman of Stone Ridge and a trained nurse assisted. The patient is doing nicely.

Benson Elmendorf has resigned his position on the railroad, and has accepted one at Briar Cliff. His family will move there later.

This notice the correspondent has been requested to send in: A young women's missionary conference will be held in the chapel of the Marble Collegiate Church, Fifth Avenue and 23rd street, New York city, Saturday afternoon, February 24, at 2:30 o'clock. All young women of the Reformed Church are cordially invited to be present and remain for a social hour. This notice will also be given out from the pulpit on Sunday, February 18.

Cecil Haines of Kingston spent Thursday evening with his sister, Mrs. J. A. Keator, here.

The play which was given in the Mechanics' Hall on Thursday evening of last week proved a great success. The participants acted their parts perfectly. Especially well did the coon and the Dutchman act, judging from the peals of laughter following each performance.

The hall was crowded, even to standing room. Loads from High Falls, Stone Ridge, Rosendale and Lomontville were present. The proceeds amounted to $40.

Mrs. Cummings Winchel and children of Kingston visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Barley, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Vliet of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Snyder.

C. A. Snyder of Kingston spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Snyder.

William Basten, operator at Apco, spent one day the past week with his parents here. Mr. Barley, who joined the First regiment of Walton, that went to Camp Whitman, has not been called out this time.

ESOPUS.

Esopus, Feb. 13.—The last quarterly conference for the year was held at the Methodist parsonage on Thursday afternoon. The district superintendent, Dr. Fred H. Denning, presided. Reports from the different departments were given. Mrs. Tobias, a steward from Plutarch, represented the church at that place and gave a full report for the year. The Rev. Samuel Bullen received an invitation to return as pastor of the church for another year.

Howard Wright of New York city spent a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wright, last week.

John Wright paid a week end visit to his brother, Harry, and family in West New York, N. J.

Mrs. Augustus Cole and son, Fred, accompanied by Mrs. Corbey and little son, James, all of Union Center, spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cole last Thursday.

Vincent Bullen has accepted a position in the draughting department of the General Electric Works at Schenectady, N. Y.

S. E. Mott drove to Rosendale yesterday afternoon to visit Mrs. Susan Merritt (an aunt of Mrs. Mott), who is suffering from the effects of a severe fall which occurred about ten days ago. A fractured limb was the result and her condition at present is rather serious.

Mrs. Alfred Wright's condition is somewhat improved since our last writing.

Mrs. Alexander Smith has been confined to her home by illness during the past week.

KERHONKSON.

Miss Nancy Hornbeck of Napanoch spent a few days the past week with Miss Pearl Fuller.

Mrs. I. E. Slater is not very well at this writing.

HYLO--

The Electric Turn-Down Lamp of a Thousand Uses

Saves $4.00 Worth of Electricity During its

Life at a Cost of 90 Cents

Hylo Mazda 90c

Hylo Carbon 60c

HYLO IS THE WONDERFUL ELECTRIC LAMP that gives you a thousand uses where you had only one before. Just touch the string and you have at will a "Hy" light, a "Lo" light, or no light at all. The "Lo" light is so effective that thousands of users find it sufficient for use in halls, bathrooms, dining rooms, nursery, sick room, libraries, cellar stairs, porches, stairways, etc.

There isn't a room or place in the house where the HYLO cannot give you more service, safety, actual comfort and satisfaction than you ever thought possible with Electric Lights.

Every HYLO Mazda Actually

Saves you $4

Taking the Mazda (cost 90c) as a unit, with a minimum life of 1500 hours, the actual average price of the current saved is $4.00. If you use the "Lo" filament all the time the saving is very much greater.

HYLO gives you enough light on "Lo" to see by and "Hy" light when you need it.

Use the HYLO Everywhere

The home, office and factory of today can no more do without the HYLO than it can do without the telephone, the electric bell or the elevator. You do not drive an automobile fitted with only high speed—do not use lamps fitted only for full power. Remember, the HYLO cuts the costs of wiring in your home, keeps away burglars, lights up the nursery, sick-room, bathroom, bedroom, hall or dining room, clears up all the dark corners in home, office and factory that caused so many bruises and broken limbs.

TODAY—Get Yours—TODAY

The HYLO is the most popular lamp in America, with a wider distribution than any Electric Specialty known. It sells like wildfire everywhere. Money back (if you want it) from the Economical Electric Lamp Division of the General Electric Co., 25 West Broadway, New York City. Buy your HYLO TODAY, from

Pronunciation in Ireland.

Many persons seem to see, or to hear, rather something to be amused at in the soft Irish brogue. As a matter of fact, most of the words of the Irish "dialect" are not Irish at all, but the purest of English—English as it is actually, it is true, but nevertheless the real thing. The words of Milton, Dryden, Spenser and Chaucer would not have been surprised to hear an Irishman speak of "a rough day" or "a clause shift." At the court of good Queen Bess the cultured Englishman carefully guarded his conversation with "polite" rings and brave "swoonings" and bored his friends with accounts of the smart sayings of the "children" at "boom." This was the English originally imported into Ireland by the cultured Irish, and the Irish have found it good enough to preserve—Chicago Tribune.

Chinese Names.

"We may all be pardoned for giving up the puzzle of Chinese names," says a writer, "and yet this little vocabulary may help the newspaper reader through dispatches that come from China. King means metropolitan; Fu, provincial capital; Chu, a second class city; Kien, a third class city; Kiang, a river; Ho, a stream; Hai, a lake or sea; Tao, island; Chan, a mountain; Ling, a pass; Tai, big; Shao, little; Kwan, fortress; Wei, camp; Men, carrier; Pei, with; Nan, south; Si, west; Chang, up; Hsi, white; Hsi, black; Yang, blue. Nothing therefore is southern metropolitan; Peking northern metropolitan.

To Repair Rubber.

As soon as a rubber article breaks, many people feel that it must be discarded at once. This is not always necessary. Many times a firm patch may be cemented over the break, making the article as good as new. There are those who do this business regularly. Some economists find it expedient to have their rubbers repaired when they first begin to wear, declaring that they can double the length of life of an ordinary pair by such attention.

The Word Metis.

The word metis, means mixed. It is from the French metis, a derivative of a Latin miscere, to mix. The term is first used in this country by the French-speaking population of the Northwest to designate persons of mixed white and Indian blood. Among the Spanish-speaking population of the Southwest the word metis, of the same derivation, is used, but it applies more especially to those of half white and half Indian blood.

Get Mental Attitude Right.

Every wrong thought, every unkind, uncharitable thought, every jealous and every selfish thought is a blood poisoner, a success and happiness hinderer. The blood cannot be pure, and hence the health cannot be right, unless the thought is pure, the motive pure, unless the mental attitude toward life is right.

RELIEF WORK FOR COMPANY M

The second meeting of the relief committee for Company M and the members of their families was held at supreme court chambers at the court house on Monday afternoon and was presided over by Chairman John D. Schoonmaker. Other members of the committee present were Secretary Everett Fowler, James O. Winston, Edward Corkendall, Judge A. T. Clearwater, Sam Bernstein, Dwight Divine and the Rev. J. J. Hickey.

The importance of the work of the relief committee was evidenced by the urgent appeal for help from a number of the boys at the front and up until Monday 14 families had been given assistance by the committee. The urgent call to service found many of the boys unprepared to face the cold weather and many were in need of gloves, socks and other cold weather necessities. These goods have been purchased by the relief committee and shipped to the members of the company.

Provisions have been made to secure accurate information of all of the needs that might arise on account of the absence of the boys and each individual case will be treated with as much generosity as the resources of the committee will permit. The committee has invited Mrs. MacMillan of the Social Service Bureau to inform them of the needs that were of an urgent nature and demanded the immediate attention of the committee. Every family in need on account of a member being called to the colors will be given prompt assistance.

If the boys of Company M remain long in service a great deal of assistance will be needed and the committee send out their appeal to every citizen in the county to give what assistance they may be able to in order to provide for the members of the company and also their families who have been left at home with, in many cases, but small means of support. Every contribution sent will be acknowledged and before any assistance is given a proper investigation will be made in order that the greatest amount of good may be derived from the money.

Besides helping the members of the local company and boy who resides in Ulster county and is a member of the company in another county will be given assistance, so the fund will provide for the assistance of Ulster county families no matter where they may have been called in service. The contributions within the relief committee, received up until Monday night, amounted to $750, an increase of $100 since the last meeting.

The principal work accomplished at the meeting on Monday was to appoint a sub-committee in the city and sub-committees in the villages and towns throughout the county. The members appointed on the sub-committees will be asked by the main relief committee to help in the relief work to their towns and villages and in this way every part of the county will be reached by the relief workers.

The committees appointed up until today were:

PRINCESS MARIE JOSE.

HER HUSBAND'S CLOSET.

And What the Grateful Wife Said and Did When She Saw It.

There was once a husband who dreamed of having a closet all his own. He dreamed of a place where he could go at night and find things just the same as they were in the morning. He dreamed of a place in which he did not occupy with his child little two suits, a remote look, while all the rest of the circumambient space was filled with—well, what every husband knows. He dreamed, and he said, "I will take advantage of my wife's absence and hire a carpenter and a locksmith and fix that closet up to suit myself and put on it an impenetrable lock and key, and then I shall laugh softly and say, 'At last the great day has come!'"

And he did it.

And when that night his wife came home and saw the work that he had done, she said:

"Where is that key?"

"And the husband, trembling—for he was no Bluebeard—produced it forthwith. And when she saw the ample space within she fell off his neck and said:

"My darling, the four new frocks I have bought this day, and the crepe de Chine party wrap, and the fur lined Mother Hubbard, and the others—your thoughtfulness has provided for."

And the man went out in the garage and hanged his dress suit there—as he had been wont to do—and signed to himself, saying, "Good night"—Life.

There were no reinforcements near at hand, and he knew that if an attempt was made to storm his defenses he and his men would be dead before help could come.

The enemy's forces advanced rapid

BIRTHDAY PARTY OF WILTWYCK CHAPTER

Wiltwyck Chapter House was the scene, on Monday afternoon, February 12th, Lincoln's Birthday of a most enjoyable social gathering, the occasion being the twenty-fifth birthday of the chapter. A delightful program had been arranged, the chapter members gathering in the meeting room downstairs for this part of the afternoon's festivities. The tall silver vase filled with yellow tulips, standing on the table whereat the regent, Mrs. Philip Elting presides over the meetings, gave a comforting suggestion of spring to those who came in from the chilling out door blasts. Mrs. Elting announced the various numbers on the program and extended a birthday greeting to all present. She called to mind, the founding of the chapter a quarter of a century ago by one of the best women of the land, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth, to whom the chapter owed a debt it could never repay. The chapter had seen many happy days. It had worked hard, serving others as well as laboring for the chapter welfare. Starting with twelve members and numbering now nearly two hundred, the chapter was ever ready to help in any good cause, at home or abroad. The chapter house, which was the envy of almost every chapter in the state, was a heritage which the chapter would carefully preserve to pass on to future Daughters of the American Revolution, together with the high standing of the Wiltwyck Chapter as one of the foremost in the state.

Especially appropriate to the day, Lincoln's Birthday, was the next number on the program, the reading by Mrs. DeWitt Roosa of a poem, "Lincoln's Birthday," by Mary Isabella Forsyth, written in February, 1905.

Three vocal solos, charmingly sung by Miss Elizabeth Hasbrouck with Mrs. C. Gordon Reel at the piano were "Early Morning," by Graham Peel; "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," by MacDowell; and "The Day is Gone," by Margaret Rutherford Lang.

One of the special guests of the afternoon, was Mrs. Shuler of Buffalo, ex-president of the State Federation, and a member of the Buffalo Chapter of the D. A. R. In response to an invitation from the regent to address the birthday gathering, Mrs. Shuler, who said she had just read "Blessed are the happiness makers, for they are to the heart of the home what the honey-suckle vine is to the door over which it climbs," could not help considering the chapter members before her in the light of "happiness makers." Mrs. Shuler believed one of the greatest tasks for the D. A. R., was that of helping in every way possible, the Americans of our foreign born men and women and children, by educating them in the ideas and ideals of this country as they should be educated. In connection with this subject, Mrs. Shuler repeated a story she had heard Jane Addams tell of the foreign born children, who having been taught American history in the classes of the settlement house, were supposed on the following day to return and act out the lesson. This time it was George Washington the American flag and Betty Ross. The curtain rose upon two diminutive representations of George Washington and a captain of the army. Said the latter, "Aint it fierce that this yere country aint got no flag," to which the father of his country seriously responded that it was. Again George Washington and a uniformed sergeant, of youthful years appeared on the stage, and saluting, the sergeant said, "Aint it fierce that this yere country aint got no flag," and he too was assured that it was. Finally there appeared a small Betty Ross tending a still smaller baby, while near her lay some strips of cloth suitable for a flag. The first president of these United States entered, and gazing seriously at the woman and child, said, "Betty, aint it fierce that this yere country aint got no flag." Replied Betty, "It is George, but you mind the baby a while and I'll make the flag." Always the women of our country have been ready to give our country when asked by the men of the country, and Mrs. Shuler felt certain that Wiltwyck Chapter would, like its many sister chapters, be ready to do whatever its country might need.

Another delightful solo, "Now Sleep, Crimson Petal," by Roger Quilter was there sung by Miss Hasbrouck.

Mrs. Elting announced, that through the courtesy of the music committee, the guests would have the rare treat of listening to Harry F. Dodge, Kingston's noted pianist. It is always a musical treat to listen to Mr. Dodge's playing which is so extremely gratifying in its artistic interpretation of the composer and in technical performance. The audience was moreover especially pleased that Mr. Dodge gave an almost exclusive Chopin program, playing first the inspiring Scherzo in B-flat Minor, with one of the especially graceful preludes as an encore. This was followed by one of the favorite Chopin Nocturnes and that in turn by a "Mazurka," by Sokalsky; a piece of modern Russian music full of spirit and grace. Every number was listened to with the keenest appreciation and enjoyment. The program closed with the singing, by all present, of the Chapter Hymn, written by its founder, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth.

The "party" then repaired to the assembly room upstairs, where a beautifully appointed and artistically decorated tea table was presided over by Miss Sarah Reynolds and Mrs. John Forsyth. The centerpiece was a huge birthday cake, handsomely iced and bearing twenty five lighted yellow candles and surrounded with a wreath of smiles. During the serving of refreshments consisting of crullers, oleo-coffee and tea the Regent, Mrs. Elting, cut the birthday cake and everyone present was served with a piece of its golden richness. Surely the twenty fifth anniversary of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R. passed into the annals of history as a most delightful event.

COMMITTEES BUSY FOR BIGGER CITY

Directors of Chamber of Commerce to Meet Wednesday Night and Hear Reports—Headquarters to be Enlarged—Other Activities of Body.

The Chamber of Commerce whose board of directors will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office at 574 Broadway, has been busily engaged on a number of projects for several weeks. The directors have held five meetings in all since organizations on January 10th.

Following out the program as suggested on the "write it down" blanks have been designated and report progress: Agricultural of which W. C. Kingman is acting chairman; barge canal terminal, Mayor Canfield, chairman; streets and sidewalks, Elmer Swart, chairman; Broadway crossing committee, of which N. H. Feasenden, chairman; membership, S. C. Schultz, chairman; musical festival, H. P. Dodge, chairman; members' forum, Captain Meagher; finances and taxation, D. G. Atkins, chairman; welfare. In addition to these several subcommittees having in charge matters pertaining to the organization have been active.

Arrangements have been made with the owners of the present quarters to lease in addition to the present room, a larger room adjoining, now occupied by Dr. Gates. All the buildings in the membership submitted estimates and the contract for changes has been let to John Duffner, who will begin Thursday morning. Painters have submitted estimates on the interior decorations and action on these will be taken Wednesday night.

The rooms will be arranged so that they may be used jointly for meetings not only of the chamber but by business men and organizations of the city at any time as a sort of center.

The various committees named have been asked to study the situation confronting the subjects they are to consider and to report to the directors with such recommendations as they may care to make. When favorable action is suggested permanent committees to such specific ends will be named. Two of these committees, not mentioned above, are the buy-at-home committee, of which William Dugan is chairman, and the other on a Retail Credit Bureau of which S. M. Watts is chairman, have reported favorably on both propositions. Further action on these matters will be taken soon.

Lecture to Follow Supper.

On Friday evening of this week Edward S. Everett of Portland, Me., a friend of the Hon. George Washburn of this city, will deliver a lecture at St. John's parish house, the subject being "The Holy Land." Mr. Everett, who has traveled widely, is also an exceptionally fine Bible student and gathered much from his visit to the Holy Land that is seldom presented to the audience attending the professional lecture on such a subject. Furthermore, Mr. Everett is a most charming raconteur, who will illustrate his description of his sojourn in the Holy Land with stereoscopic slides, made from photographs taken by him. This most interesting lecture will follow the supper which the ladies of the Parish Aid Society are to serve from 5 to 7:30 o'clock in the parish house. The menu for this supper will be as follows: Corn soup, chicken pie, Kentucky cold ham, mashed potatoes, cabbage salad, finger rolls, jelly, pickles, plum pudding and several kinds of home made pie, coffee. The tickets for the supper also include the lecture, and being printed with stubs it will be possible for those attending the supper to leave the parish house if necessary and return later for the lecture by presenting the lecture stub. The lecture will be at 8 o'clock.

CROSSING EXPERT WILL SPEAK HERE

Chamber of Commerce Tackling Elimination of Broadway Grade Nuisance and Will Hear Chief Engineer Lewis of New York on Subject.

Nelson P. Lewis, chief engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of New York City, an expert on the question of grade crossings, will address the members of the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening, February 21, at a place to be selected. Mr. Lewis is expected to furnish some firsthand data on the problems to be encountered in the elimination of the Broadway crossing of the West Shore railroad so long a vexatious and damaging feature of the city's life.

This one problem was mentioned more than any other in the canvass of the membership for opinions as to the chief problems confronting the city. The Chamber of Commerce expects to make headway in its solution within the next few weeks as an energetic committee has had the matter in charge.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Feb. 13.—Mrs. David Watkins entertained the members of the Whist Club at the Mitchell House, Saturday afternoon. Following an hour or more at the games, the hostess served delicious refreshments and these were enjoyed with a very pleasant social intercourse.

There was a large attendance at the first annual banquet of the Lake Shore Camp of which Bert H. Cornelius is proprietor, held in the Red Men's Rooms Saturday evening. A variety of games were played. The young folks enjoyed the dancing to good music by Rosenberg's orchestra and a very delicious lunch served was enjoyed. All attending enjoyed a very pleasant evening and extended thanks to the Lake Shore Camp.

Judge William D. Cunningham and Mrs. Cunningham entertained a large company of friends at their home on Maple avenue Saturday evening in honor of their 15th wedding anniversary. The decorations of the home were roses and carnations. The game hearts, was played the prize a beautiful bouquet of carnations was won by Mrs. William Glass of Kingston, who with her husband, were guests on the festive occasion. A very fine course of refreshments was served. Dancing was also another feature of the evening's entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons entertained the members of the Monday Night Club at their home on Center street Monday evening. It was a delightful celebration of Lincoln's Birthday.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Reformed Church, will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock, at the home of Miss Mary Clark on Warren street. Subject, "What Missions Mean to Our Country."

A general circle of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will be held in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. The following ladies are to entertain: Mrs. Ira Startup, Mrs. Guernsey Craft, Mrs. Henry Boat and Mrs. Barbara Anthor.

Rev. W. H. Moser delivered a very able sermon at the M. E. Church Sunday morning to a large congregation and the Sunday school followed but owing to some break to the furnace there was no Epworth League or evening service.

Rev. Walter S. Maines delivered two excellent sermons at the Reformed Church on Sunday. The theme for the morning sermon was, "The Impending Crisis." The evening, "The Increasing Fame of Lincoln." A large congregation present at each service.

Rev. C. B. Gruver of Albany occupied the pulpit of the Lutheran Church Sunday morning and evening.

Mrs. Raymond Hook entertained the members of the Sewing Circle this Tuesday afternoon.

The Misses Schaffer will entertain the members of the Y. P. L. A., at their home on Clinton street Tuesday evening.

Mrs. George Daley and daughter have been spending several days in town as guests at the Mitchell House while visiting her cousins, Mrs. A. V. Keeler, Mrs. George J. Hoornbeek and Mrs. George B. Holmes.

William Shannon of Brooklyn is spending two weeks with his friend, Lloyd Wilkoff at his home at the Hasbrouck House.

Miss Helen Gaskell of the New Palitz Normal spent Sunday and Lincoln's Birthday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gaskell.

Mrs. Frank Ruckle spent the week end with her aunt, Mrs. Nugent in Middletown.

Benjamin Richmond of New York is spending a few days' vacation with his mother on Cape avenue.

Richard Carver, Fred Carver, Burton Wood, and William Dugan, Jr., of New York spent Sunday and Lincoln's Birthday at their Ellenville homes.

William Hillman of New York has been spending a few days at his home in Ellenville.

Howard Kelder, who has been working at Bridgeport, Conn., has been spending some days at his home on North Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Coons and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Coon's parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Cookingham at Red Hook.

Miss Adele Cline spent Sunday and Lincoln's Birthday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cline on Center street.

John Bull.

For many generations England has been nicknamed "John Bull." "John Bull" means beefy, brawny and obstinate. It is a popular personification of the English people. He is represented as a bluff, corpulent, irascible old fellow, clad in leather breeches and old boots, carrying a stout oaken cudgel. The nickname is derived from Dr. Arbuthnot's satire entitled "The History of John Bull," a political sketch on the subject of the Spanish succession, first published in 1712 and afterward reprinted complete in Pope's "Miscellany" in 1728.

Arbuthnot thus describes John Bull: "In the main he was an honest, plain dealing fellow, choleric, bold and of very inconstant temper. Very apt to quarrel with his best friend, especially if he pretended to govern him. If you flattered him you might lead him as a child."—Kansas City Star.

Chimneys.

The chimney is something that is relatively new in architecture. Many of the old castles and other buildings of Europe which were constructed before the fifteenth century have no chimneys. In some of them a flue leads from the back and above the fireplace through the wall to the outer air. It was somewhere about the thirteenth century that in certain buildings the masons began to run the flue to the top of the building, but the chimneys of that period had openings in the side, the top being roofed over. It was about the fifteenth century that masons began to build chimneys that extended above the roof of the house and to leave the top of the chimney uncovered.

Granulated Butter.

The Chinese preserve their eggs indefinitely by drying them, the yolks and whites being first separated and then each reduced to powder by evaporation. In India butter is treated in much the same way, so that it never becomes stale and may be kept fresh for a hundred years. The butter is boiled till all the water and curds are got rid of and nothing remains but clear oil. When the oil cools into a solid it is granulated and in this form will remain fresh indefinitely. This is what they call ghee, and ghee is nothing more or less than dried butter.

Couldn't Fool Him Twice.

The manager of Kidem's great menagerie had induced all the crowd to become patrons except one individual, who stood gazing up at him with mouth agape.
"Right in this way, sir, if you wish to see some deer stalking!" shouted the animal king.
"No fear, lad," came the reply. "I was in yesterday, and none of 'em said a bloomin' word."—London Mail.

This Is the Chalmers 5-Passenger 6-30

Needless to ask you what price you want to pay for this attractive car. You very much prefer the present price, $1090. For beginning March 1, the price will be $1250. $160 is a good saving—certainly enough to make any man accelerate his purchase on such an attractive value as the Chalmers. Well balanced. Easy to drive. Easy on tires. Economical of gasoline and oil. Big. Comfortable. Roomy. Sound. Good from end to end.

On the 2-passenger roadster there is a saving of $180. The present price, $1070, becomes $1250 on March 1.

Cats Destroy Birds.

Cats occasionally catch a mouse, but not often. They prefer birds. The obnoxious sparrows are too alert for them, and so their accustomed feathered prey is song birds and other species valuable to man because they are insect destroyers. Fledgling young of such birds, in the nest, are destroyed in immense numbers by cats. Pains-taking study of the subject has convinced me that the average cat captures at least 50 birds per annum.—Exchange.

Rule for Sincerity.

The best way to be sincere is never to think anything about it. Be yourself, and let the rest take care of itself. No one ever yet heard of an insincere tree or mountain or sunset. Perhaps one reason is that they never analyze themselves or stop to consider what sort of impression they are making.

Only a Diamond.

Columbus people stopped in amazement when they saw an unusual window display at a jewelry store of this city. In the center of the window, in a push case, was a large diamond. On one side, also in a push case, was a piece of genuine soft coal and on the other side, mounted in silk and plush, was a genuine egg. "This is a mere diamond," said a card over the precious stone in the center.—Indianapolis News.

Hanseatic League.

The Hanseatic league is said to have been the first trade union. It was established in the thirteenth century by certain cities of northern Germany for their mutual prosperity and protection. The diet which used to be held every three years, was called the Hansa. This league was virtually broken up in 1630.

Health in Walking Downstairs.

Not so long ago men walked briskly for a mile or two, two or three times a day or oftener, and thought nothing of it. Now when we want to go a mile we ride. The elevator has taken away the exercise for the feet that used to be obtained in going up and coming down the stairs. So far as it is of use in facilitating ascent in the high buildings it is an advantage. It would be probably much better, however, if it were not used quite so much for coming down and if people took advantage of the descent to strengthen important leg muscles and dissipate certain tendencies to accumulation of fat where it is most disfiguring.—New York Independent.

Customer—I'd like that umbrella stand, but I don't think it is worth $3.
Salesman—Why, madam, the very first umbrella that is left in it may be worth more than that.

KINGSTON, N. Y., FEB. 13, 1917.

The most preposterous side incident of the great war is the note sent out by "First Chief" Carranza offering the "modest co-operation" of Mexico in bringing about peace and proposing that all neutral nations proceed to starve the belligerents into peace if reason fails. It would be a good idea for the old scoundrel to illustrate his methods by starving Villa into being good. No doubt he knows almost as well as anybody that he is making himself ridiculous, and one is driven to the conclusion that his motive is grounded in promises of financial aid by German agents or possibly actual cash from that source. There has heretofore been occasion for suspicion of pernicious German activity in Mexico. Knowing Mexicans as we do in this country, it seems incredible that anyone should go to the trouble or expense of securing Carranza's aid, but the Berlin Government has done so many foolish things during the last few years that almost any story of its actions will find believers.

No man can serve two masters, least of all the man who hopes to succeed in newspaper work. The experiences of the two Washington correspondents who sent out advance information of the President's peace note of December 20 furnish a useful lesson in this respect. As is pretty generally known, newspaper reporters are continually in receipt of confidential information and to the credit of the profession, it must be said that few, indeed, have been the breaches of confidence on the part of its followers. For this reason the revelations of the "leak" inquiry are particularly regrettable to news-writers all over the country, as two Washington journalists admitted that they disposed of information which was given them upon honor. One of these men was in the employ of a stockbroker, another "leaked" in behalf of a friend in the brokerage business. The Press Gallery in Washington has revised its bylaws to prevent its members taking up with side lines. It is seldom that the circles of the Fourth Estate have been so stirred as in this case, yet it only goes to show that newspaper men are human, like the other professions, and it is not so far a cry back to the days of the "yellow dog" fund of the great insurance companies.

To look at the other side of the picture, however, it must be admitted that life is a succession of exchanging "tips," whether these be news tips, business hints to a friend, or favors for which we expect a reciprocating good turn at a later date. Newspaper men are constantly seeking "news tips," and it is not uncommon for a man in public life who is the donor of a bit of news to endeavor to capitalize the fact in securing some personal advertising through the agency of the recipient. There is cause for wonder that the standard of ethics maintained in newspaper work continues at so high a mark, for certainly the conditions of this form of labor in New York City are not calculated to bring out the best in the men. In the matter of hours alone, the morning newspapers exact from ten to fourteen hours a day from their reporters as against eight hours required in the mechanical departments, and the reporter knows nothing of overtime. It might not be a bad thing if a fifty-four hour week were imposed on some of the metropolitan newspapers by the Legislature. These newspapers are frequently trying to regulate hours of labor in all lines of industry outside their own editorial rooms. The suggestion is respectfully offered for consideration at Albany.

Chicago's anti-billboard ordinance has been upheld by the United States Supreme Court and the power thus accorded to municipal governments should have a most beneficial effect in obviating the more glaring offenses of this form of advertising all over the land. The Chicago ordinance prohibited the erection of billboards in the residential districts, one of the arguments against them being that they furnish places for the accumulation of refuse, thus menacing health and safety, to say nothing of affording a convenient place for the concealment of criminal practices. The ethical side of the argument, so far as the most important, does not enter into the pleadings or the decision, apparently. Some day these insults to good taste will be eliminated through an enlightened public opinion. The same is true of much of the advertising carried in the subway and surface cars of New York and even our smaller city transportation systems. Under their charters most of these corporations have no right to carry on an advertising business, but the newspapers have never been so narrow as to raise the question. At the same time, why should our trolley companies be permitted to annoy passengers in this way when our steam railroad car interiors are so restfully free from nauseating advertising material?

LITTLE LAUGHS.

"Is she reliable?" "Absolutely. You can always depend upon her being just about thirty minutes late."—Life.

"I understand Blank doesn't stammer so much since he got married." "Of course not; he gets fewer chances to talk than he used to."—Boston Transcript.

Scribbler—"I sent the editor a long essay on the Roman Empire." Bibber—"What did you get for it?" Scribbler—"The editor sent me a short note on the decline of the Roman Empire."—Judge.

"Why do you give your little son only one penny at a time?" "I'm trying to encourage thrift and economy. He knows he'll have to save five before he'll have enough money to buy a movie ticket."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"I think there is some misapprehension about the freedom of the press," declared the editor of the "Pittsburgh Courier." "In what way?" "A lot of people seem to think they are not expected to pay for the paper."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Paid for Two.
On Sunday grandma took Baby Jane, aged three years, to church. When they took up the collection Jane put her two pennies in the box. Grandma was looking for her purse, when baby said: "Dat's all right, grandma, I've paid for two."—Cleveland Leader.

Brought Memories.
The master of the household had ordered that the maid should clean a coat of his with gasoline. The order was not carried out; so he asked his wife:
"Why won't this girl of ours clean my coat with gasoline?"
"Oh," said the wife, "ever since that chauffeur killed her she hasn't been able to stand the odor of it."—Everybody's Magazine.

Thoughtful Location.
During an inquest held in Cincinnati the following question was put to one of the witnesses by the deputy coroner:
"Where was the deceased struck by the motor car?"
Whereupon the witness, a surgeon, replied: "At the juncture of the dorsal and cervical vertebrae." The deputy coroner looked puzzled.

Will you please point out that on the map?" he asked, indicating one that hung on the wall.—Case and Comment.
He Might Forget His Own.
Ho's a clever young fellow, is Tompkins, but rather absent minded. On one occasion he was sent by his firm to transact some important business with a client. Arriving at the latter town where the latter lived, Tompkins paused in the railroad station, and his face grew pale. Then he rushed to the telegraph office.

"Have forgotten," name of client. Please wire at once.
To Tompkins waiting impatiently in the telegraph office, came this reply:
"Client's name Roberts. Your name Tompkins."—Duluth News-Tribune.
The Age of Law.
Naturally, in an age of law, the thing to do in the face of the high cost of living was to summon a grand jury.
The fees of the jury were $25,000.
The fees of the witnesses were $50,000.
The sheriff and his deputies charged $10,000 for serving the papers, which the clerks charged $10,000 for making out.
Total, $105,000.
The result of the jury's labors was the indictment of a bootblack who charged 15 cents a shoe, but, perhaps, because so many men blacked their own shoes, the cost of living wasn't much depressed.
Nobody complained, however, "It's worth something to get the principle settled," everybody insisted, with a satisfied air.—New York Post.

WITTENBERG.
Wittenberg, Feb. 12.—About forty-five guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Stone on Thursday evening for a jolly surprise. Games and music were indulged in after which a bounteous luncheon was served. At midnight all departed for their homes declaring the host and hostess charming entertainers.
The Misses Bessie Wesley and Ethel Short of Kingston spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Short.
Miss Waleenah Risley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Ruth Short.
All are glad to learn the sick are improving.

DR. CROTHERS TO LECTURE IN CITY.

The senior class of Kingston high school are fortunate in having completed arrangements for a lecture by Dr. Samuel McChord Crothers on "Every Man's Natural Desire to be Somebody Else." Dr. Crothers is not only one of the greatest lecturers in the United States but is also well known throughout this country and Europe, because of his essays and books. Some of his well known writings are "Humanly Speaking," "Members of One Body," "Gentle Reader," "The Understanding Heart," "Among Friends," "Meditations on Votes for Women," "The Pleasures of an Absentee Landlord," and "The Lord of Destiny." Many Kingstonians are also well acquainted with Mr. Crothers' contributions to magazines such as the Atlantic Monthly.

An Unusual Opportunity.
The graduating class, having taken the responsibility of managing this event, feel confident that all Kingston will assist by its attendance at the lecture because they believe that no lecturer of equal reputation has been in Kingston within several years. The gentleman lecturer at Harvard University and is commonly called the Oliver Wendell Holmes of today. The press is constantly speaking of Mr. Crothers as a very genial writer and speaker. His gentle irony and kindly wit, his perfectly lucid and simple style, his common sense and forceful expression are topics of general comment in book reviews and by oratorical critics.

Support Already Promised.
Although arrangements for the lecture were not completed last week, yet one or two of the literary clubs of the city, hearing of the bold and uplifting desire of the students, expressed their appreciation and voiced an intention to be present.
Almost every one who has a desire to attend the lecture can well afford to do so because the students have put their prices for adults and students very low as compared with what is almost always charged to hear such a celebrity. This will make it necessary for the seniors to have an attendance that will almost fill the high school auditorium or they will lose out.
Kingstonians have usually shown a willingness to co-operate with the school boys and girls when they receive a dollar's worth of something for a dollar. This, coupled with everyone's natural desire to hear the great speaker makes the students confident of having twelve hundred auditors in the high school auditorium on the evening of March 29, 1917.

WEST PARK.
West Park, Feb. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. George C. Seeley are spending a few days with their daughter, Mrs. John Roberts, New York.
Miss Nellie O'Brien went to New York on Saturday at noon.
Mrs. Eliza J. Burroughs is visiting her sister, Mrs. John Watson, on Long Island.
Mrs. H. H. Covert and Miss Myra Covert expect to spend the latter part of the week in New York city.
Mr. and Mrs. Chester Elliott will occupy the lower rooms at the camp after March 1.
Mr. and Mrs. D. Kirby of Hoboken are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Quinn in West Park.
The next meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary will be held on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. T. G. Rhyau.
There was a very pretty wedding in Ascension Church on Wednesday morning, February 7, when Howard E. Mackey and Miss Bridget Quinn were married by the rector, the Rev. Richard C. Seating, S. T. B. The bride and groom were attended by Edward J. Townsend of Highland and Miss Myra Covert of West Park. Their friends gathered at the church wished the happy party much joy. Mr. and Mrs. Mackey made a trip to Albany, Saratoga Springs and other places.

Why hens never lay half an egg!

The usual method of feeding mostly grain, makes yolks but not enough whites to complete the eggs. As the hen cannot lay these half made eggs, she absorbs them back into her system. Research Experiment Station facts showed that 100 lbs of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks but only 134 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulae produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:

Purina Scratch Feed	247.49 yolks	142.11 whites
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05	282.55
Combined Ration	429.54 yolks	424.66 whites

Note the perfect balance of yolks and whites and the large number of each. This combination of Purina Feeds makes the maximum number of complete eggs; eggs a hen will lay. That's why we can absolutely guarantee

FARM LABOR NOW AND TOMORROW

Ithaca, Feb. 13.—The farm labor problem is one of the most difficult that besets American agriculture today, and the future promises no easy solution, according to Edward Van Alstyne, director of Farmers' Institutes in New York state, speaking here today before a farmers' week meeting at the state college of agriculture.

He discussed the farm labor problem and pointed out that though today with the aid of improved agricultural machinery, one man can do the work of five or ten years ago, it is no harder to get the one man than it used to be to employ the five or ten. Labor has left the farm for the cities because of shorter hours, regular work and higher wages. And it was the best class of farm hands who went to the cities—leaving the farmer to depend upon the most unskilled classes. He points out that the immigration of men who are fitted for farm labor has practically ceased today and maintains that it will not assume its former proportion for years to come, possibly never.

Suggestions For the Future.

That conditions will make it unwise to farm poor land which requires a maximum of labor to produce a minimum of crops and that the best land cannot be planted to low priced crops is the opinion expressed by Mr. Van Alstyne. He thinks that the security of labor will largely determine the kinds of crops to be grown on our farms. The crop should be such as to permit the use of labor-saving machinery either loaned to the small farmer or hired by him. Continuous farm operations are advocated in order to keep a sufficient number of farm hands on the farms. Since many kinds of farm work require two or three men he suggested that the farmer plan his work to take advantage of the social instinct of men who like to work in pairs or groups and thus make it easier to keep efficient farm help. He emphasized the fact that farming is more than a business or means of a livelihood—it is not just a question of individual success because in farming one's wealth or loss is bound up with the welfare of the community.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Feb. 13.—The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. L. man Shaffer and son, David, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Church.

HYLO--

The Electric Turn-Down Lamp of a Thousand Uses

Saves $4.00 Worth of Electricity During its Life at a Cost of 90 Cents

Hylo Mazda 90c
Hylo Carbon 60c

HYLO IS THE WONDERFUL ELECTRIC LAMP that gives you a thousand uses where you had only one before. Just touch the string and you have at will a "Hy" light, a "Lo" light, or no light at all. The "Lo" light is so effective that thousands of users find it sufficient for use in halls, bathrooms, dining rooms, nursery, sick room, libraries, cellar stairs, porches, stairways etc.

There isn't a room or place in the house where the HYLO cannot give you more service, safety, actual comfort and satisfaction than you ever thought possible with Electric Lights.

Every HYLO Mazda Actually Saves you $4

Taking the Mazda (cost 90c) as a unit with a minimum life of 1500 hours, the actual average price of the current saved is $4.00. If you use the "Lo" filament all the time the saving is very much greater.

HYLO gives you enough light on "Lo" to see by and "Hy" light when you need it.

Use the HYLO Everywhere

The home, office and factory of today can no more do without the HYLO than it can do without the telephone, the electric bell or the elevator. You do not drive an automobile fitted with only high speed—do not use lamps fitted only for full power. Remember the HYLO cuts the costs of wiring in your home, keeps away burglars, lights up the nursery, sick-room, bathroom, bedroom, hall or dining room, clears up all the dark corners in home, office and factory that caused so many bruises and broken limbs.

TODAY—Get Yours—TODAY

The HYLO is the most popular lamp in America, with a wider distribution than any Electric Specialty known. It sells like wildfire everywhere. ## RESULTS IN CITY BOWLING LEAGUE

Two games were rolled in the City Bowling League on Monday evening. At the Elks Club the Roundout Bowling Club defeated the West Sides by a score of 2,625 to 2,482 pins. The Roundout Club bowlers were Giles, Styles, Sapp, Winter and Cashin, while the West Sides were Payne, Beeres, Hume, Thompson and Bennett.

At the Y. M. C. A. alleys the East Sides defeated St. Peter's No. 2 by a score of 2,277 to 2,114 pins. The West sides were Wood, DeForrest, Taylor, Warren and Webster, while the St. Peter's No. 2 bowlers were Winter, Longendyke, Fox, Dressel and Larsen.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Shortly before the end of the afternoon session of school, the classes, weary of German, Latin, chemistry and the like, were surprised by a summons to chapel exercises. Although it was necessary to work on the holiday still Lincoln was not forgotten in the high school and the simple but timely exercises were a fitting climax to a noted day.

Without having had scarcely any preparation Rufus Van Aken spoke from memory Thurston's speech, "God's Man," and Olga V. Owens was called upon to tell one of Lincoln's homely anecdotes and Katherine Hotelling read the Walt Whitman's poem, "My Captain," which has held a place in all the students' minds since grammar days. In addition to these appropriate selections the assembly sang two of the old time rallying songs. Then came dismissal time when all went out in the crisp air with revived thoughts of Lincoln.

Varsity Debating Team Chosen.

The Kingston High School Varsity Debating Team has at last been chosen and definite preparations may now be made for the fast approaching contest with Poughkeepsie. The team chosen by the faculty committee and the judges of the debates this school year is made up of three men, Travers Gillette, Leonard Lockwood and Edward Stelle, Jr. Aubrey Arnet, president of the Webster Hayne Debating Club, was selected as alternate, which is a position of little less honor than a position on the team. The leader will later be elected by the team itself. During the past fall and the winter up to the present time preliminary debates have been held in the H. S. auditorium to allow all contestants a chance to prove their mettle. Gillette is an entirely new man on the platform, having never debated in a school debate before this year, but his reasoning ability and plain hard work won for him his spurs. Stelle on the other hand seems to have gained his place because of his speaking ability. Two years ago he was an alternate on the K. A. varsity and last year a member of the K. H. S. varsity squad. His delivery and experience will probably be his best contribution to the team. Lockwood, like Gillette, is an out of town boy who this year for the first attracted attention by his forceful delivery and by the good material he chose for his speech. The alternate, Arnet, is also made of good substantial timber and must have given some of the chosen three a close run for his position.

The judges and the committee who made the choice must have been somewhat embarrassed by a wealth of good material from which to choose this year as among those who made a good impression on the committee and the judges of the debates by their speeches are Harper Leeper, Eugene Gleason, Rufus Van Aken, Ernest Palen and Irving Guttridge and it is unfortunate that all might not have a place on the team.

Cohen Sign Arrives.

The big electric sign to be erected on the front of the clothing store of S. Cohen's Sons, on Wall street, arrived on Monday and workmen are busy today erecting the new white light producer for Kingston's great white way. The sign will show the Cohen crest and spell out name of the firm one letter at a time until the white name has appeared when it will flash out and begin over again. The sign is one of the most up to date in town and is one of the largest in the city.

CHURCH PENSION FUND EXPLAINED

On Sunday morning, the Rev. J. I. Blair, learned of St. John's Episcopal Church, gave a most graphic account of the need of the church pension fund, now being raised, quoting from a sermon on the subject recently delivered by the Rev. J. H. McIlvaine, rector of Calvary Church, Pittsburgh. Following the announcement of his text, Gal. 6:10, Mr. McIlvaine, told of a visit to a retired clergyman and his wife, residing comfortably in Washington, and the preacher then told how this clergyman, realizing the future conditions of so many clergymen, became a chaplain in the service of the government, rather than an independent rector serving the church. As a result he received during his active years a much more comfortable salary and in his declining years a pension upon which he and his wife could live comfortably. Over against this case was set the graphic picture of individual cases of able clergymen who had spent their lives up to 50 years or at the most 60 years of age, in the untiring and efficient performance of their duties as ministers and preachers of the gospel, only to end their days in shameful poverty and need. Some of the cases cited were enough to bring the blush of shame to the cheeks of any sincere church member.

The article appearing recently in the Ladies' Home Journal, describing the forced retirement of a rector at the age of 60, who at a farewell reception received the munificent gift of $700 and embossed and framed resolutions of appreciation, was also quoted. The son of this rector came home from college for the reception and then and there refused to continue his studies for the ministry. Later he graduated as the most brilliant member of his class and is now one of the most noted men of his profession in this country. So much was lost to the church which so seriously needs such men, because there was no provision for the future such as the government, railroads, large or prosperous corporations are finding it wise and just to make for their employees. It is to remedy this condition which is so really un-Christian, that the church pension fund is being raised.

In order to carry it through on scientific principles, an immediate reserve fund of $5,000,000 is required in order that all clergymen now serving in congregations may have access to the reasonable pension, or the widows and fatherless children of rectors may be cared for. Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, who has been making the raising of this fund his business for many months, has just stated that over $4,000,000 has now been raised, but the full $5,000,000 must be raised before March 1, in order to be available. On Sunday next, the Episcopal churches throughout the country which have not already contributed will be given an opportunity to do so. This fund will never have to be raised again, and only a very small percentage of the rectors' salaries will hereafter have to be raised in order to put this just and businesslike proposition upon a purely business basis, as stable as any insurance concern in the world. So far the Kingston churches have not contributed to this fund. The plea has been made in some instances that a congregation is itself too needy to contribute much. Would that congregation not be much better off if its rector, who ever he might be, were relieved of that dragging dread of a poverty stricken and humiliating old age, and would not the majority of the parishes be able to secure young men of greater ability if this matter were attended to? Therefore no parish can afford not to contribute generously at this time. At St. John's Church the parishioners will receive this week letters explaining the manner of operating the fund, etc., with pledges cards for contributions, and doubtless the other churches will take similar action. It is devoutly to be hoped that on Sunday next there will be received for this fund which stands for what is right, what is just, what is Christian, a large sum from the Episcopal churches of Kingston.

"BAD BILL'S" DEBUT.

Company M is located at a Historic Spot in Ulster.

Very interesting details have been supplied by the big metropolitan newspapers as to the country now being patrolled by the militia in Ulster county and these reports place the bravery and endurance of the troopers beyond question. According to one report the men are located high up in the Catskills, where the mercury hovers around 10 degrees below zero and others say the men are tramping through snow waist high. None of this cold winter weather has been dealt out to the members of M company, the local command, but it has remained for the local boys to be sent into the wilds of Ulster county where the one bad man of the county began his career which eventually kept the sheriffs of two counties busy and finally placed him as a guest of the state for several years.

At Ireland Corners, where the members of Company M are located, "Bad Bill" Monroe began his career as a desperate man several years back when he attacked the Deyo family and several hired men. Since then the reputation of "Bad Bill" has kept the people in the southern part of the county in a state of terror whenever he has been at liberty in the county and only a few weeks ago he started out on one of his escapades which resulted in Sheriff Shultis descending on him and again placing him in the custody of the law.

Although the town of Gardiner is not so uncivilized as might be thought by anyone reading the New York papers, still it is there that Ulster county's last and most notorious bad man first began his career and at Ireland Corners, where the

BIRTHDAY PARTY OF WILTWYCK CHAPTER

Wiltwyck Chapter House was the scene, on Monday afternoon, February 12th, Lincoln's Birthday of a most enjoyable social gathering, the occasion being the twenty-fifth birthday of the chapter. A delightful program had been arranged. The chapter members gathered in the meeting room downstairs for this part of the afternoon's festivities. The tall silver vase filled with yellow tulips, standing on the table whereat the recent Mrs. Philip Elting presides over the meetings, gave a comforting suggestion of spring to those who came in from the chilling out door blasts. Arriving announced the various numbers on the program and extended a birthday greeting to all present. She called to mind the founding of the chapter a quarter of a century ago by one of the best women of the land, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth, to whom the chapter owed a debt it could never repay. The chapter had seen many happy days. It had worked hard, serving others as well as laboring for the chapter welfare. Starting with twelve members and numbering now nearly two hundred, the chapter was ever ready to help in any good cause, at home or abroad. The chapter house, which was the envy of almost every chapter in the state, was a heritage which the chapter would carefully preserve to pass on to future daughters of the American Revolution, together with the high standing of the Wiltwyck Chapter as one of the foremost in the state.

Especially appropriate to the day, Lincoln's Birthday, was the next number on the program, the reading by Mrs. DeWitt Ross of a poem, "Lincoln's Birthday," by Mary Isabella Forsyth, written in February, 1905.

Three vocal solos, charmingly sung by Miss Elizabeth Hasbrouck with Mrs. C. Gordon Reed at the piano were "Early Morning," by Graham Peck; "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree," by MacDowell; and "The Day is Gone," by Margaret Rutherford Laing.

One of the special guests of the afternoon was Mrs. Shuler of Buffalo, ex-president of the State Federation, and a member of the Buffalo Chapter of the D. A. B. In response to an invitation from the recent Mrs. Shuler, who said she had just read "Blessed are the peacemakers," for they are to the heart of the home where the honey-suckle vine is to the door over which it climbs, "could not help considering the chapter members before her in the light of 'happiness makers.' Mrs. Shuler believed one of the greatest tasks for the D. A. B. was that of helping in every way possible, the Americanizing of our foreign born men and women and children, by educating them in the ideas and ideals of this country as they should be educated. In connection with this subject, Mrs. Shuler repeated a poem of the foreign born children, who having been taught American history in the classes of the settlement house, were supposed on the following day to return and act out the history of the American flag and the story of George Washington.

The curtain rose upon two diminutive representations of George Washington and a captain of the army. Said the latter, "Ain't it here that this yore country ain't got no flag," to which the father of his country seriously responded that it was. Again George Washington read a uniformed sergeant, of youth, in years appeared on the stage, and exclaiming, the sergeant said, "Ain't it here that this yore country ain't got no flag," and he too was assured that it was. Finally there appeared a small baby, while near her lay some strips of cloth suitable for a flag. The first president of the United States entered, and gazing seriously at the woman and child, said, "Hoag, ain't it here that this yore country ain't got no flag." Replied the baby, "It is George, but you ain't the baby a while and I'll make the flag." Always the women of our country have been ready to give assistance when asked by the men of the country, and Mrs. Shuler felt certain that Wiltwyck Chapter would, like its many sister chapters, be ready to do whatever its country might need.

Another delightful solo, "Now Sleep, Crimson Petal," by Roger Quiller was there sung by Miss Hasbrouck.

Mrs. Elting announced, that through the courtesy of the music committee, the guests would have the rare treat of listening to Harry F. Dodge, Kingston's noted pianist. It is always a musical treat to listen to Mr. Dodge's playing which is so extremely gratifying in its artistic interpretation of the composer and in technical performance. The audience was moreover especially pleased that Mr. Dodge gave an almost exclusive Chopin program, playing first the inspiring Scherzo in B-flat minor, with one of the especially graceful preludes as an encore. This was followed by one of the favorite Chopin Nocturnes and that in turn by a "Mazurka," by Sokalsky, a piece of modern Russian music full of spirit and grace. Every number was listened to with the keenest appreciation and enjoyment. The program closed with the singing, by all present, of the Chapter Hymn, written by its founder, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth.

The "party" then repaired to the assembly room upstairs, where a beautifully appointed and artistically decorated tea table was presided over by Miss Sarah Reynolds and Mrs. John Forsyth. The centerpiece was a huge birthday cake, handsomely iced and bearing twenty-five lighted yellow candles and surrounded with a wreath of smiles. During the serving of refreshments consisting of crackers, omelette, coffee and tea the recent Mrs. Elting, cut the birthday cake and everyone present was served with a piece of its golden richness. Surely, the twenty-5th anniversary of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. B. passed into the annals of history as a most delightful event.

HORSES BELIEVE IN SAFETY FIRST.
(Individual Drinking Cups for Horses.)

Philadelphia, Feb. 12.—The latest movement for practical sanitation has been launched by the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. It is an individual drinking cup for horses, by which they hope to prevent the spread of glanders through the state.

John Bull.
For many generations England has been nicknamed "John Bull." "John Bull" means beefy, brawny and obstinate. It is a popular personification of the English people. He is represented as a bluff, corpulent, irascible old fellow, clad in leather breeches and top boots and carrying a stout oaken cudgel. The nickname is derived from Dr. Arbuthnot's satire entitled "The History of John Bull," a political sketch on the subject of the Spanish succession, first published in 1712 and afterwards reprinted completely in Pope's "Miscellany" in 1728.

Arbuthnot thus describes John Bull: "In the main he was an honest, plain dealing fellow, choleric, bold and of very inconstant temper. Very apt to quarrel with his best friend, especially if he pretended to govern him. If you flattered him you might lead him as a child."—Kansas City Star.

Chimneys.
The chimney is something that is relatively new in architecture. Many of the old castles and other buildings of Europe which were constructed before the fifteenth century have no chimneys. In some of them a few leads from the back and above the fireplace through the wall to the outside. It was somewhere about the thirteenth century that in certain buildings the masons began to run the flue to the top of the building, but the chimneys of that period had openings in the side, the top being roofed over. It was about the fifteenth century that masons began to build chimneys that extended above the roof of the house and to leave the top of the chimney uncovers.

Granulated Butter.
The Chinese preserve their eggs indefinitely by drying them, the yolks and whites being first separated and then each reduced to powder by evaporation. In India butter is treated in much the same way, so that it never becomes stale and may be kept fresh for a hundred years. The butter is boiled till all the water and curds are got rid of and nothing remains but clear oil. When the oil cools into a solid it is granulated and in this form will remain fresh indefinitely. This is what they call ghee, and ghee is nothing more or less than dried butter.

Couldn't Feed Him Twice.
The manager of Kidem's great menagerie had induced all the crowd to become patrons except one individual, who stood gazing up at him with month agape.

"Right in this way, sir, if you wish to see some deer stalling," shouted the animal king.

"No fear, lad," came the reply. "I was in yesterday, and none of 'em said a blooming word."—London Mail.

COMMITTEES BUSY FOR BIGGER CITY

Directors of Chamber of Commerce to Meet Wednesday Night and Hear Reports—Headquarters to be Enlarged—Other Activities of Body.

The Chamber of Commerce whose board of directors will meet Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the office at 574 Broadway, has been busily engaged on a number of projects for several weeks. The directors have held five meetings in all since organizations on January 10th.

Following out the program as suggested on the "write it down" blanks have been designated and report progress: Agricultural of which W. C. Kingman is acting chairman; barge canal terminal, Mayor Canfield, chairman; streets and sidewalks, Elmer Swart, chairman; Broadway crossing committee of which N. H. Fessenden, chairman; membership, S. C. Schultz chairman; musical festival, H. P. Dodge, chairman; members' forum, Captain Meagher; finances and taxation, D. G. Atkins, chairman; welfare. In addition to these several subcommittees having in charge matters pertaining to the organization have been active.

Arrangements have been made with the owners of the present quarters to lease in addition to the present room, a larger room adjoining, now occupied by Dr. Gates. All the buildings in the membership submitted estimates and the contract for changes has been let to John Dunbar, who will begin Thursday morning. Painters have submitted estimates on the interior decorations and action on these will be taken Wednesday night.

The rooms will be arranged so that they may be used jointly for meetings not only of the chamber but by business men and organizations of the city at any time as a sort of center.

The various committees named have been asked to study the situation confronting the subjects they are to consider and to report to the directors with such recommendations as they may care to make. When favorable action is suggested permanent committees to such specific ends will be named. Two of these committees, not mentioned above, one the buy-at-home committee of which William Dugan is chairman, and the other on a Retail Credit Bureau of which S. M. Watts is chairman, have reported favorably on both propositions. Further action on these matters will be taken soon.

Lecture to Follow Supper.

On Friday evening of this week Edward S. Everett of Portland, Me., a friend of the Hon. George Washington of this city, will deliver a lecture at St. John's parish house, the subject being "The Holy Land." Mr. Everett, who has traveled widely, is also an exceptionally fine Bible student and gathered much from his visit to the holy land that is genuine presented to the audience attending the professional lecture on such a subject. Furthermore, Mr. Everett is a most charming raconteur, who will illustrate his description of his sojourn in the Holy Land with stereopticon slides made from photographs taken by him. This most interesting lecture will follow the supper which the ladies of the Parish Aid Society are to serve from 5 to 7:30 o'clock in the parish house. The menu for this supper will be as follows: Corn soup, chicken pie, Kentucky cold ham, mashed potatoes, pumpkin pudding and several kinds of home made pie, coffee. The tickets for the supper also include the lecture, and being printed with stubs it will be possible for those attending the supper to leave the parish house if necessary and return later for the lecture by presenting the lecture stub. The lecture will be at 8 o'clock.

CROSSING EXPERT WILL SPEAK HERE

Elimination of Broadway Grade Nuisance and Will Hear Chief Engineer Lewis of New York on Subject.

Nelson P. Lewis, chief engineer of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of New York City, an expert on the question of grade crossings, will address the members of the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening, February 21, at a place to be selected. Mr. Lewis is expected to furnish some first-hand data on the problems to be encountered in the elimination of the Broadway crossing of the West Shore railroad so long a vexatious and damaging feature of the city's life.

This one problem was mentioned more than any other in the canvass of the membership for opinions as to the chief problems confronting the city. The Chamber of Commerce expects to make headway in its solution within the next few weeks as an energetic committee has had the matter in charge.

ELLENVILLE.

Ellenville, Feb. 12.—Mrs. David Watkins entertained the members of the Whist Club at the Mitchell House, Saturday afternoon. Following an hour or more at the games, the hostess served delicious refreshments and these were enjoyed with a very pleasant social intercourse.

There was a large attendance at the first annual banquet of the Lake Shore Camp of which Bert H. Cornelius is proprietor, held in the Rodin's Rooms Saturday evening. A variety of games were played. ## Cats Destroy Birds.

Cats occasionally catch a mouse, but not often. They prefer birds. The obnoxious sparrows are too alert for them, and so their accustomed feathered prey is song birds and other species valuable to man because they are insect destroyers. Fledgling young of such birds, in the nest, are destroyed in immense numbers by cats. Pains-taking study of the subject has convinced me that the average cat captures at least 50 birds per annum.—Exchange.

Rule for Sincerity.

The best way to be sincere is never to think anything about it. Be yourself, and let the rest take care of itself. No one ever yet heard of an insincere tree or mountain or sunset. Perhaps one reason is that they never analyze themselves or stop to consider what sort of impression they are making.

Only a Diamond.

Columbus people stopped in amazement when they saw an unusual window display at a jewelry store of this city. In the center of the window, in a plush case, was a large diamond. On one side, also in a plush case, was a piece of genuine soft coal and on the other side, mounted in silk and plush, was a genuine egg. "This is a mere diamond," said a card over the precious stone in the center.—Indianapolis News.

Hansatic League.

The Hansatic league is said to have been the first trade union. It was established in the thirteenth century by certain cities of northern Germany for their mutual prosperity and protection. The diet which used to be held every three years, was called the Hansa. This league was virtually broken up in 1630.

Health in Walking Downstairs.

Not so long ago men walked briskly for a mile or two, two or three times a day or oftener, and thought nothing of it. Now when we want to go a mile we ride. The elevator has taken away the exercise for the feet that used to be obtained in going up and coming down the stairs. So far as it is of use in facilitating ascent in the high buildings it is an advantage. It would be probably much better, however, if it were not used quite so much for coming down and if people took advantage of the descent to strengthen important leg muscles and dissipate certain tendencies to accumulation of fat where it is most disgusting.—New York Independent.
